ONE COMMUNIST KILLED IN BERLIN

World-Wide Situation
Fails To Develop Gravity Expected by Red Officials.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
On historic old Boston Common, in the new Campus Martius of Detroit, on Pennsylvania avenue outside the high iron fence that surrounds the White House grounds, in New York's Union Square facing the Tammany Wigwam, in the hills of Seattle, and in the roaring canyons of Chicago, tens of thousands of Americans gathered on "Red Thursday."

Some of them were in jail today and some in hospitals. Hundreds nursed lacerated scalps, black eyes, bruised noses. And the rest, thousands on thousands, had gone peacefully back to flats and bungalows, enjoying the exhilaration of having seen a "real show."

Just Plain Folks.
There were communists among them, communists trying to make more communists by an international unemployment day, with the jobless marching simultaneously on city halls all over America and all over the world. There were men without work, too, shabby, ill-fed, despondent, but more than all the rest there were every day Americans—those curious ones who will stop traffic any day to watch a man demonstrating a safety razor in a drug store window.

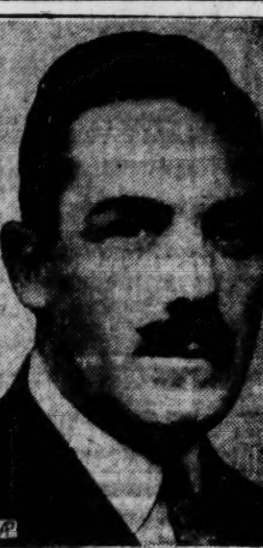

And so far into the night New York police detectives worked to sort out communists from innocent on-lookers among the 100 injured in the prison ward of Bellevue hospital, and in Cleveland, Detroit and Seattle hundreds of persons who no doubt are not communists at all, nor even out of jobs, were recovering from night-stick blows.

Biggest in New York.
With nearly 100 injured and almost as many arrested, including William Z. Foster, presidential candidate of the workers' communist party in 1928, New York's demonstration was the biggest. It started when Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen, ensconced in police headquarters he had set up for the day in a construction shack in Union square, refused to permit the demonstrators to march down Broadway to the city hall and call on Mayor James J. Walker. In the ensuing melee Mr. Whalen got a bit of scuffling himself when he assisted his policemen.

In Detroit 12 were reported injured and 23 arrested. A crowd estimated by Detroit police at 100,000 jammed into the Campus Martius and Cadillac square, backing up into Woodward avenue half a mile from city hall. Two thousand police finally cleared them out—partly by running busses and street cars through the mob. At least one man was

TARIFF STRUGGLE DRAWS TO CLOSE

Coalition Plans Fight To Retain Reductions Won Earlier.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—Undismayed by their defeat on the sugar tariff, leaders of the democratic-republican independent coalition braced themselves today in preparation for the effort to stay further possible upsets of victories already won on important levies in the tariff bill. Despite three further secondary overtures in votes during the day on the chemicals, oils, and paints schedule, the coalition chiefs believed that they had a majority again to prevent the voting of rates on cement, oil, and lumber, and to retain reductions they won on aluminum and pig iron.

Reports were heard of threats to seek a reconsideration of yesterday's vote whereby the duty on sugar was increased, if the senate reversed itself and approved a tariff on cement, but there also were expressions that not enough votes to overturn the sugar

Taft Holds Own, Doctors Declare

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—William Howard Taft continued today to hold his own against the complications of diseases that for more than a month have kept his life in the balance.

Mrs. Taft herself by the steady vigilance over their patient, the doctors who have assisted Mr. Taft to resist the illness. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Clayton, returned only twice to his bedside. After the noon visit they said the former chief justice had lost none of the ground gained during the past few days, but no change in his condition was noted.

Still gravely ill, Mr. Taft was able to take more nourishment and to greet briefly those who entered the room.

Mrs. Taft took her customary morning and evening rides in the warm sun and once while she was out the only caller of the day arrived in a smart English dog cart drawn by a spirited roan horse and driven by a uniformed coachman.

He had not been apprehended Thursday night, despite the combined efforts of city and federal officers to locate him. It was thought, however, that it would be difficult for him to remain at large indefinitely.

Haney pursued him in vain for several blocks before losing him in the crowd.

DeRiight, who also gave several other names, was arrested by City Officers J. A. McKibben and S. A. Smith on charges of transporting a stolen car from Pensacola to Atlanta, and was given a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith Thursday afternoon, who ordered him held under $2,000 bond.

At the hearing it was charged that he had secured a position with a Pensacola concern some days ago and after working for a short period took one of the company cars and headed for Atlanta. He was arrested at a downtown parking lot.

PROHIBITIONISTS TELL OF BENEFITS UNDER DRY LAWS

Assail Arguments of Wets Before House Committee in Second Day of Testimony.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—Upholding prohibition as a boon to society women, beneficial to the farmer, and as saving 100,000 lives in a decade, prohibitionists today demanded that the eighteenth amendment be retained in the constitution. Rounding out two days of testimony before the house judiciary committee at hearings on measures to repeal the dry laws, the prohibition forces were assailed by Chairman Graham, of the committee, that they would be granted all the time they needed for a full presentation of their contentions. The dries devoted today to assailing the arguments advanced by the wet advocates, and at the end of the hearing was continued until next Wednesday.

Both Mrs. Ruth G. K. Strawbridge, Philadelphia society leader, and Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, attacked W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Pierre S. DuPont, Wilmington (Del.) industrialist, for their advocacy of repeal.

Besides these two witnesses, the committee heard Patrick H. Callahan, a Louisville (Ky.) manufacturer, who is general secretary for the Association of Catholics favoring prohibition, and C. P. Connolly, of East Orange, N. J., former prosecuting attorney of Butte, Mont., and magazine writer. In addition Representative Buttress, republican, North Dakota, presented a statement from prominent North Dakotans, contradicting the charge of Pierre Bletwell, a farmer of that state, who testified to the house committee that prohibition had ruined many grain growers.

During the hearing, Representative Celler, democrat, New York, issued an invitation to Commander Evangeline Booth, of the Salvation Army, to appear before the committee to discuss her organization's problems with young liquor drinkers. Throughout the hearing the wet members of the committee closely questioned the witnesses about their claims of prohibition's benefits to the various social classes and the farmers. Mr. Callahan said he thought the middle classes had benefited from prohibition, while "the dregs and the smart set" of American high society was represented by Mrs. Strawbridge as contented.

Handcuffed Man Jumps to Liberty On City Street

Handcuffs failed to stop a sensational break for liberty through crowded downtown streets here Thursday afternoon, Lord G. DeRiight, of the state, escaped from a patrol car en route to Fulton tower from the federal building, where he had been bound over on charges of violating the motor vehicle theft act, grasped the wheel of the car which was being driven by Deputy Marshal W. F. Haney, swerved it violently to the curb and then, while Haney was busy engaged in an effort to right the careening vehicle, jumped out and made good his escape.

He had not been apprehended Thursday night, despite the combined efforts of city and federal officers to locate him. It was thought, however, that it would be difficult for him to remain at large indefinitely.

Haney pursued him in vain for several blocks before losing him in the crowd.

DeRiight, who also gave several other names, was arrested by City Officers J. A. McKibben and S. A. Griffith Thursday afternoon, who ordered him held under $2,000 bond.

Atlanta Disappointed When 'Red' Day Flops

COMMUNISTICALLY speaking, Thursday here turned out to be about as dismal as it was meteorologically. The much-heralded red parade where in the "unemployed" and disemployed were to march on the city hall and police headquarters failed to materialize though several long-haired men and longer haired women presented themselves at the city hall only to be "shooed" away by alert patrolmen stationed there by Chief of Police James L. Beavers.

A number of reds gained entrance to the city hall during the morning and distributed a quantity of their literature in various offices before being forced out by a squad of police summoned by Custodian Glenn Dewberry. Throughout the remainder of the day the police squad remained at the city hall and only persons who had business to transact were permitted to enter.

Information reaching the ears of the police said the parade was to have been mobilized at the hall used by the alleged communists at Piedmont and Auburn avenues shortly after noon. Lieutenant J. W. Barfield was on hand there with a squad of uniformed and plainclothes men. The lieutenant secreted his men in points of vantage and sat in his parked motor car to await developments. Nothing happened. A few straggling persons who may or may not be communists ventured into the vicinity, gaped about a moment or two and went on their respective ways. The lieutenant smoked his pipe and commented on the weather. His squad was armed, well armed, and in addition had enough tear bombs to rout an army.

A squad of plainclothesmen essayed into the hall on the third floor of a negro office building. There they found a score of empty chairs and literature telling about the down-troddenness of the "unemployed" workers. The lieutenant confiscated this material and after watching for developments all afternoon took it with him to police headquarters.

The police also had under surveillance during the day a place at 422 Decatur street where communists are alleged to have held meetings recently. Squads also watched buildings on Central and Capitol avenues but nothing at all took place.

J. Henson Tatum, secretary to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, said no permit for a parade had been applied for and that none likely would be issued in the event an application was filed. Chief Beavers announced earlier in the day that he would not permit a parade without a permit and to back his statement ordered enough men detailed to Lieutenant Barfield's command to see that his orders were carried out.

Just who was to have led the parade and who would compose it, a vision of the board of the would justify the efforts to locate Viola Thurston, known to the police as Viola Dalton, and said to be a red organizer, was named as the sponsor of the parade efforts to locate Viola Thurston proved in vain.

Anyway the police reported dull doings on a day that promised to be decidedly interesting.

LEASE AUTHORITY OF STATE UPHELD

Court Rules Georgia Has
Right To Lease Old Oil
Depot Site.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court, Thursday upheld the authority of the state of Georgia to lease the Union depot property of the Western and Atlantic railroad to the Dixie Terminal Building Company.

The decision was in the case of the state of Georgia, the Western and Atlantic commission, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad and the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company against the Dixie Terminal Building Company.

It is a test case incident to the leasing of the depot property, upon which the terminal building company proposes to erect a 26-story joint office building, warehouse and cold storage plant.

The litigation arose upon a bill for specific performance filed by the plaintiffs alleging that although the defendant was bound by agreement to execute a final contract, leasing the Union depot site, in Atlanta, for a term ending December 27, 1930, defendant had declined to execute the contract as tendered by plaintiffs.

Defendant filed a demurrer alleging that its declaration to sign the contract was due to an apparent failure of plaintiffs to furnish satisfactory evidence of authority to bind the parties to a lease extending over the entire period specified by the preliminary agreement.

The defendant, subject to its demurrer, filed its answer, admitting all the facts alleged in the petition, and the conclusions expressed therein.

Reuben Arnold, as attorney for the W. & A. railroad commission, and George Napier, attorney-general, representing the state, and John L. Tyne, representing the railroads, read to the court the petition filed by the plaintiffs, and Albert Howell, of counsel for the defendant company, read the demurrer and answer of the defendant.

The court overruled the demurrer of the defendant and evidence was then submitted by the plaintiffs in support of the allegations of their petition.

The defendant offered no evidence and upon the conclusion of the hearing the court entered a decree granting the relief prayed for in plaintiffs' petition.

M. W. Borders, Jr., of Kansas City, general counsel for the Dixie Terminal Building Company, who was in attendance upon the hearing, announced that there would be no appeal from the decree, and that the contracts as tendered by plaintiffs would be promptly executed.

E. M. Dobbie, vice president and general manager of the company, announced that the demolition of the old depot would commence immediately upon completion of the new Forsyth street station, about April 6, 1930, and that the 26 story warehouse building, covering the depot site and costing approximately $3,000,000, would be completed by March 1, 1931.

TATE RESIGNATION FROM ROAD BOARD SENT TO GOVERNOR

J. W. Barnett, of Athens,
Named New Chairman;
Change Goes Into Effect
on April 1.

The resignation of Colonel Sam Tate as chairman of the state highway board, effective April 1, and the appointment of J. W. Barnett, Athens city engineer, to succeed him were announced Thursday by Governor L. G. Hardman.

Colonel Tate's resignation was predicated upon the condition of his health. His physician, he said, had advised him that he would not be responsible if he continued under the strain of administering the highway department.

Colonel Tate's intention to resign has been informally known for the past ten days.

That Mr. Barnett would be appointed to succeed him was first made known in The Constitution Wednesday of this week. Mr. Barnett has served as city engineer of Athens for the past 20 years, since his graduation from the University of Georgia, and two years ago received an appointment to the chair of the board to succeed John R. Holder, but failed of confirmation by the senate.

To Take Rest.
Colonel Tate said following his resignation, that his immediate intention was to take a much needed rest, private life at home in Tate, Ga.

His physician told him prior to the first of the year, he stated, that his retirement from active public life was imperative. Ten days ago the warning was reiterated.

"Nothing else would have induced me to relinquish the office," Colonel Tate stated. "There has been no division of the board the would justify me in retiring. So far as criticism of the board or any of its acts is concerned, that had no influence in my decision."

"I would have submitted by resignation when my physician first cautioned me had it not been for the debts under which the highway department was laboring and my desire to complete its reorganization and place it where it could let contracts and pay for them in cash."

The reorganization, I consider, has been one of the crowning achievements of the highway board. The most important change, I think, was the complete divestment of the engineering and maintenance divisions.

Relief Foreseen.
"With a well-organized maintenance division and $500,000 more money every year this should give the greatest relief of any one thing done, if we can help the people out of the mud in the rainy seasons the people, I believe, will be patient until the department is able to construct concrete roads throughout the state."

"I am deeply grateful to the people of the state for the co-operation they have given me, and in expressing appreciation I must not overlook the papers of the state highway department, the kindness and co-operation which I deeply appreciate."

"I go back to private life knowing that I have tried to discharge the duties of the office to the best of my ability."

Talk in Elevator Brings Subpoena In 'Graft' Probe

Keen ears are of great advantage to subpoena servers who are handing out notices to appear before the grand jury to testify in the city graft investigation.

This was proven Thursday by the experience of one of the county subpoena servers in an elevator in a downtown building.

The subpoena server entered the elevator to seek the office of a man for whom he had a subpoena. As the elevator shot up toward the top of the building, the subpoena server overheard one man in the "lift" observe to another: "Well, they haven't got it yet. I've been looking for a subpoena for some days, but they haven't found me yet, and are not going to."

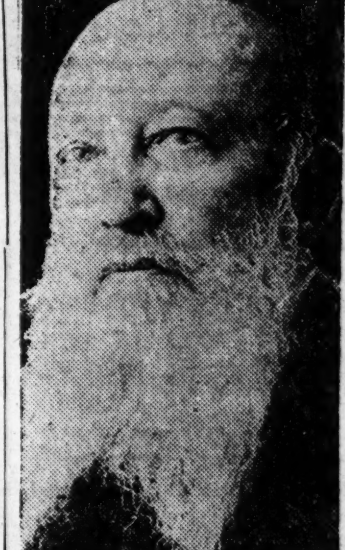

As the man stepped out of the elevator at his floor, the subpoena server approached him. "Pardon me, sir," the server said. "Haven't I met you before? Your face is very familiar. What is your name?"

Without hesitation, the man gave his name.

"Well, I have just come up after you. Here is a subpoena to appear before the grand jury," the server said, pulling a subpoena out of his coat pocket.

The server reported that the man took it well and even joined in a laugh at his own expense.

Admiral Dies

Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz, wartime seafarer of Germany and instructor of the U-boat warfare, who died early Thursday in a Bavarian hospital at the age of 80 years.

VON TIRPITZ DIES AT AGE OF EIGHTY

"Father" of U-Boat Drive
Passes at Bavarian Hospital.

BY FREDERICK KUH,
United News Staff Correspondent.
BERLIN, March 6.—Grand Admiral Alfred P. von Tirpitz, "creator of the German imperial navy," died in his sleep today in a sanatorium at Ebenhausen, near Munich, five days less than 81 years old.

Belligerent to the last, the man whose insistence on unrestricted submarine warfare brought the United States into the World War, had a paradoxically peaceful end. His heart had been weakened by a bronchial attack last February. He fell asleep last night after saying he felt ill.

He never woke up. His wife, one son and physicians were at his bedside when he stopped breathing.

The nationalist party, to which the big navy admiral belonged, was in caucus at the reichstag when the message of his death was received. Immediately the members held a memorial service. Later they submitted a motion asking the government to reconsider a previous decision and appropriate money for the start of a second "pocket battleship" of the Ersatz Preussen type.

The navy yards at Wilhelmshaven flew flags at half mast for von Tirpitz. President Paul von Hindenburg, induced by von Tirpitz to run for the presidency and later attacked by him for not seeking restoration of the monarchy, sent the admiral's widow the following telegram:

"The German navy will cherish the remembrance of your husband's great service to the nation's fleet in peace and war."

Funeral arrangements depend on the family.

von Tirpitz clung to the last to the belief that his advice, if followed, might have caused Germany to win the war. Navy, a great believer in submarines before the conflict started, he altered his views and desired to launch the "unrestricted" use of U-boats long before the Kaiser would consent.

He resigned from his post as minister of marine because of Wilhelm's hesitancy in 1916, but continued to direct the navy from behind the scenes. He was heart broken because the German grand fleet was never sent out to a pitched battle against England's fleet, and was close to being when mutiny broke out among the ship's crews before the establishment of the republic. He felt it a personal blow when the fleet surrendered in a body.

Yet he had his delusions. As late as 1918 he said, "America's effective participation in the war is, and always will be a phantom." He admitted his error last January in an interview with the United News and he pointed out that "42 per cent of the United States troops sent to Europe were of German blood."

In the same interview he predicted the five-power naval conference would fail of concrete results. Submarines would not be abolished, he said, America would not obtain freedom of the seas and private war would continue to direct wages.

His mind wandered during the interview. Though his eyes sometimes flashed some of their old fire above his bristling mustaches he seemed to finish many of his war-like sentences.

Von Tirpitz was born as plain Alfred P. Tirpitz, son of a judge. He entered the navy when he was 16 and was made a nobleman in 1910. At the age of 75, returning to Germany after fleeing to Switzerland on establishment of the republic, he entered the reichstag as a nationalist deputy.

Tearing through Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana last night, a tornado took a toll of five lives, injured nearly two score persons, virtually wiped out one village, disrupted communications, and caused property damage of upward $100,000.

The wrecking wind first struck plantations and villages in Bolivar, Sun Flower and Humphreys counties in Mississippi. Cutting an 800-foot swath across Bolivar county, the tornado killed two negroes, injured 10 persons, and destroyed 15 houses. Damage there was estimated at $20,000.

Near Kosciusko, Miss., a 65-year-old woman, Mrs. J. W. Adams, was killed and two negro farm tenants injured as the storm swept the Adams plantation.

The next point struck was Gregory, Ark., a village of 200 near Augusta. The village was practically destroyed with property damage estimated at $30,000.

Twisting around into Louisiana, the tornado hit Harris, near Home, killed two negroes, probably fatally injured a third, and caused damage not exactly known which would outlast any other of several thousands of dollars. More than a score of persons were injured. Communications at all points were disrupted in varying degrees.

At Boyle, Miss., the inhabitants heard the approach of the tornado in time to flee their houses, but many were struck by flying debris. Damage in Boyle itself, however, was not extensive.

Chase, Equitable Plan Biggest Bank

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—The New York Times tomorrow will say the Chase National Bank and the Equitable Trust Company are discussing a proposed merger into an institution which would outlast any other bank in the world by any standard of comparison.

The combination would create a bank with resources of more than $2,700,000,000, deposits in excess of $2,000,000,000 and capital funds, exclusive of security affiliates, of over $35,000,000.

Aiken withdrew his appeal in the case of a 12 months' prohibition violation sentence imposed some time ago, and was given an additional 12 months on another count. Other accusations charging him with blocking the highway, vagrancy and violating the prohibition law were dead docketed. The contempt of court sentence was given Aiken for an alleged attempt to tamper with a state witness.

DR. SMALL SPEAKER AT CITY CLUB LUNCH

Editorial Writer Talks on Responsibilities of Good Citizenship.

The City Club, under the presidency of Judge Ernest Kountz, staged a spirited session at its weekly luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont hotel, featuring a special address by Dr. Sam W. Small, editorial writer of The Constitution.

W. J. Sayward, architect, who designed the park entrances for the city as a labor of love, first explained the significance of the meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce next Monday at 3 p. m., when matters of city advancement will be discussed by the outstanding business leaders of Atlanta.

Dr. Small discussed earnestly several salient problems of citizenship duty and responsibility. He stressed particularly the incomprehensible and indefensible fact that of the 55,000 eligible voters in the city only about 20 per cent of them may be relied upon to go to the polls in city elections. That is a condition not known to be paralleled in any other city of nearly equal importance as Atlanta. Even our most accomplished citizens do not seem to realize the duty of seeing that the city is governed by men of intelligence, patriotic unselfishness, and the business sense to deal with the civic needs and millions of revenue that the people sweat into their public treasury. A vicious system of ward politics renders just such public anarchy and inevitable opens the doors wide to incompetent administration, with its train of misfeasances, malfeasances, suspicious and disreputable scandals. No good citizen should be a civic shirker.

Also, Dr. Small insisted, Atlanta's progressive leaders should change somewhat the enthusiasm and energy of the old "Atlanta spirit" from too intense centralism and give it centrifugal influence. Atlanta has been always mostly dependent upon the people of a wide contributing circle, the inhabitants of the smaller towns and the farms in a radius of a hundred or more miles. The prosperity of the people who surround us so strongly is vital to the welfare and progress of Atlanta. Divorce our interests from theirs and Atlanta would soon dry up and die. We cannot live and jockey on our own fat alone. We must make ourselves brethren in interests with the enterprising and farmers of our environment.

Dr. Small said that if Atlanta people demonstrate that they cannot manage their civic affairs without humiliation to themselves and show the state of which the city is the proud capital, there is power in the state to take over the municipal government and run it for us in straight and honest fashion.

Repeatedly, Dr. Small pointed out, the supreme court has said that: "In Georgia municipal corporations are regarded as agencies of the state government and hold all property acquired by them for public use as a public trust, and they may be divested of it by the legislature." So if Atlanta doesn't want to have the state absorb and govern her, and spoil her of her rich properties, she had best get busy to reform herself. Thereby she may restore her own fame and shine pure and brilliant as the chief jewel in the crown of the commonwealth.

Canton Man Enters Race for Secretary

D. T. Bowers, of Canton, announced Thursday that he would be a candidate for secretary of state in the democratic primary this summer.

Former State Senator Louis H. Moore, of Thomaston, and State Senator Carl Guess, of Stone Mountain, have already announced they would be in the race. Other potential candidates include John E. Wilson, secretary to Governor Hardman, and J. M. Pitner, of Washington.

Mr. Bowers said that he would base his candidacy on the same platform and purposes he announced in his previous campaign for the office.

UTILITIES BODY AUDIT SENT TO GOVERNOR

An excess of $1,832.26 of over disbursements of the public service commission was reported Thursday by Tom Wisdom, state auditor, in an audit submitted to Governor L. G. Hardman.

The transfer of $19,731.92 from the special fund to the credit of the public service commission in the state treasury was reported, and disbursements of $17,500.58.

In addition to the regular accounts of the commission, the audit reported the collection of $1,471.42 under the motor carrier act, which went into effect the latter part of 1929. The sum of $4,248.89 was withdrawn from this account, leaving $3,222.53 to the credit of the fund at the close of the year.

Under the motor carrier act such sums as may be left in this account after the payment of salaries, shall be paid to the state highway department.

Mr. C. J. Kamper—the founder of Kamper Grocery Co.—came to Atlanta 52 years ago. He fell so in love with our climate and our people that even the urge of former business interests could not lure him away! So after spending some time in the offices of the Atlanta Machine Shops, then owned by J. H. Porter and J. W. Meakin, the incentive to own his own business took possession of him—a place for individual ideas and improved methods—where better merchandise could be shown and sold! So it was that a small store with a modest but select stock was opened—the first "Kamper's!"—serving Atlanta well then, just as it is now! And still an Atlanta institution—Atlanta owned!

Big Crowd Hears Candidates For Fulton Commission

Record of Incumbents Attacked and Defended at Slaton School Rally.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.
Vigorous tests of incumbent county commissioners and strong defense of their records featured a political rally Thursday night at the Slaton school, where aspirants for the posts spoke before one of the largest audiences ever gathered in the institution's auditorium. The primary to nominate the commissioners will be held March 10.

Virgil Adams attacked the record of incumbents, while Commissioners Paul Etheridge and Walter Hendrix and H. H. Chambers, speaking for Dr. W. L. Gilbert, defended the administration as one of economy and declared that the people and the county have prospered under the present regime.

Mr. Adams flayed what he termed "gross inefficiency and extravagance of the administration in paying road stretches in the southern section of Fulton county, which begin nowhere and go nowhere, except through property in which one of the commissioners is interested."

"Not only has a series of roads been constructed through this real estate subdivision, but concrete bridges have been built over swamps," Mr. Adams said. "I have nothing against any one of the commissioners in this race but I do not like the way they have handled this and other matters."

"Fulton county is not in debt, but has arranged to borrow money only until tax funds are available," Mr. Etheridge stated. "This county is operating smoothly, efficiently and for the best interests of its citizens. Those men who are now in the positions are familiar with the duties of the office. Their records entitle them to reelection. Waste has been eliminated and strict economy is being practiced."

Nelson Spratt, Alex Whitley and Dr. Dan Griffith compose the opposition ticket to the incumbents. They spoke at the rally held under the auspices of the committee in charge of their campaign.

Tenth ward residents will be given an opportunity to hear all those seeking the three positions at a meeting beginning at 7:45 o'clock tonight at the Adair school, under the auspices of the Adair Park Civic league, it was announced Thursday by Mrs. J. L. Richardson, secretary.

Residents of the Capitol View, Sylvan Hills and Oakland City sections also are invited to be present.

Praise for Jurors
Planned by League

Resolutions commending the last Fulton grand jury on its work in connection with alleged graft in the city hall will be introduced at the monthly meeting of the Morningside Civic League at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Morningside Presbyterian church.

SLIGHT RIOTS OCCUR IN SOUTH HAITI

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, March 6.—(AP)—Haitian agitation for intervention by President Hoover's investigating commission into the political affairs of the republic reached a new peak today.

Rumors spreading through the city that President Louis Borno intended to make a coup-d'etat by resigning and naming his own successor through new appointments to the council of state roused great excitement. Similar rumors a week ago provoked demonstrations. Those usually well informed declared today's rumors were unfounded.

At Jacmel, in the southern part of the country, Captain Hal Potter, national guard officer in command, reported today that 100 young men had rioted last night. The police subdued them with sticks. Two sergeants were struck by stones but were not hurt.

Feeling in the south ran high against the American occupation of the island republic. Conditions were under control, however, and no serious trouble was expected.

Leaders of the groups opposing occupation conferred privately with the commissioners today, discussing plans for a provisional government.

They agreed to issue a statement urging their followers to refrain from any disturbances that might lead to riots while the commissioners were studying the situation.

Different Haitian groups have put various interpretations upon a call the commissioners paid to the president at the palace today.

W. C. Forbes, chairman of the commission, officially announced that the visit was "purely social, and we want that understood fully."

But it was reported in Haitian quarters, even among some of the Borno supporters, that it had been requested by the president so that within the safety of his guard, he could inform the commissioners of his views.

Huston Is Angered
At Shoals Probe

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(AP)—Netted over delay in getting a hearing before the senate lobby committee, Claudius Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, issued a statement tonight through the national committee's publicity bureau explaining his relationship to Muscle Shoals power legislation.

Huston said his name had been "systematically bandied around upon authority of the members of the senate lobby committee" as a prospective witness. He complained that he had not been given an opportunity to be heard until next Tuesday to reply to testimony before the committee in writing.

The republican chairman said that as an officer of the Tennessee River Improvement Association he and the association had "vigorously supported the proposed lease to the American Cyanamid Company" of the Muscle Shoals property. He is a resident of Tennessee.

"I make no apologies," his statement said, "for representing the interests of my state, and I resent the attempts to connect the chairmanship of the republican national committee with a local non-partisan question."

Belated Replies to 'Marian' Contest Are Pouring Into Constitution Office

The above picture gives an idea of the manner in which the public responded in an effort to settle the question of marriage for Marian, the fair Constitution heroine, who is beset with six highly desirable suitors. The letters shown represent those received in one day, the last day of the contest, which ended midnight Sunday. Miss Lilly Mae Robinson, editor of The Constitution magazine section, and Leon Belcher, also of The Constitution, are seen with the letters.

The question of "How Old Was Ann?" never in its balmy days was responsible for the amount of interest which has been shown by Constitution readers in offering their suggestions for the proper suitor for Marian to marry.

Despite the fact that the deadline on the contest was specifically set for midnight Sunday, suggestions in the thousands continue to flood the office of The Constitution and it is now estimated that 25,000 replies have been received.

Announcement of the prize winners in the contest will be made Sunday and $500 will be divided among those who submitted the 72 best suggestions for the solution of Marian's great problem in selecting one of six very desirable suitors.

Extra help has been pressed into service at The Constitution offices and every effort is being made to complete the enormous task of deciding on the winners. More than 20,000 replies were received well inside the set time limit. Those which came too late had to be discarded.

Those who have been in charge of the contest state that replies have come in from every walk of life, old and young, school girls, grandmothers and grandfathers.

Mexican Killed.
EL PASO, Texas, March 6.—(AP)—One Mexican was killed and another wounded today as rum runners renewed their assault upon the American boundary. The skirmish occurred in the shadow of St. Ann's Episcopal mission on South Piedras street.

None of the United States border patrolmen who engaged in the fight was reported wounded, although the firing was heavy.

Civic Music Association
Campaign Gains Impetus

Officials of the Atlanta Music Club, as sponsors of the Atlanta Civic Music Association, are encouraged over the speeding up of the membership campaign during the fourth day. Out-of-town subscribers have become enthusiastic. Applications have been received from Macon, Columbus, Athens, Rome, Marietta, LaGrange, Griffin and Newnan. It is believed that with the steady daily increase of renewals and new subscribers, when Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore brings out her famous Big Ben clock Saturday evening, the goal will be achieved.

The campaign has been ably headed by Mrs. Moore, retiring president of the Atlanta Music Club, and first vice president and acting president during the absence of Eugene R. Black, president of the association; Mrs. Willis Westmoreland, secretary; Mrs. Walter Bedard, incoming president of the music club, chairman of membership; Mrs. Henry Scott, new membership chairman; Miss Irene Smilie, telephone chairman, and Mrs. DeLois Lemaire Hill, in charge of speaking appointments and the fleet of automobiles for the campaign speakers. There are some 72 group captains and workers stationed in various sections of the city.

Beeler Blevins is planning to rebuild the hanger destroyed by fire at Candler field Tuesday night. Thursday he believed that the hanger would have been done as yet but that he would continue his operations. He stated the type of hanger to be erected depends on several things, but that plans and specifications are being assembled as rapidly as possible so that all will be in readiness to build the type desired just as soon as it is selected.

Doug Davis, one of the city's well-known pilots, Thursday paid a visit to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, "Atlanta's Flying Mayor." He offered to take him on an air hop to any point the mayor might suggest. When Mr. Ragsdale innocently asked him about the merits of a trans-Atlantic hop Doug was stumped. However, he told the mayor that though his experience alone lines of an ocean jump were somewhat limited that he would attempt it should the mayor insist.

It will be remembered that Mayor Ragsdale made his first air trip several weeks ago when the Davis Airplane was used.

BRAND SUBSTITUTES BANK RUMOR BILL

Conspiracy Section of Bill Making Failure Rumor a Crime, Eliminated.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(Special.)—Representative Charles R. Brand, of the eighth Georgia district, today introduced a substitute bill for the measure he has had pending for some time, both bills seeking to amend the federal reserve act so as to make it punishable with fine or imprisonment to maliciously circulate rumors about a national bank or a state bank which was a member of the federal reserve system which would result in a run on a bank.

In introducing his substitute bill this morning Mr. Brand eliminated the section bearing on conspiracy, which had met with considerable opposition. This section was added by the Georgia representative at the request of members of the banking and currency commission of the house so that the new substitute bill introduced this morning was identical with the bill as first written.

The bill introduced today was as follows: "Whoever maliciously, with intent to deceive, makes, publishes, utters, repeats or circulates any false report concerning any national bank, or any state member bank of the federal reserve system which causes a general withdrawal of deposits from such bank, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall upon conviction in any court of competent jurisdiction be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both."

The Rev. J. A. Scarborough, of Atlanta, Ga., today was elected moderator. Vice presidents named were: E. C. Winter, first; E. G. Gillentine, second, and the Rev. L. G. Yarnado, Bay Springs, third. The Rev. W. G. Gilbert was re-elected secretary. Rev. T. T. Moore, of Texas, was re-elected treasurer and Rev. A. C. Gilbert, of Texarkana, named editor of Sunday school literature.

The Rev. Mr. Hammack, of Marville, Ark., was selected to preach the introductory sermon at the next convention which was voted to be held in Little Rock, Ark.

RUSSIAN UNEMPLOYED ALLOWED NO PROTESTS

Socialist Says 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 Are Jobless in Soviet Land.

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—Raphael Abramovitch, prominent Russian socialist now in this city, is quoted in the New York Times today as saying there are from 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 unemployed in soviet Russia and that no demonstrations by them are tolerated.

"The spectacle of Moscow stirring up unemployment demonstrations abroad at a time when it denies to its own workers the right of free speech, free press and peaceful assembly would be very amusing," he said, "if it were not so tragic for the Russian workers."

He pointed out that while Russia has a system of unemployment insurance, only a fraction of the workers can avail themselves of it and that official party members get preference. "The rest," he said, "are permitted to starve, and if they protest they meet with brutal handling by the government, with persecution, imprisonment, exile."

Of the unemployed, he said, 2,000,000 are industrial workers out of a total of about 3,000,000 employed in industry, and from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 are agricultural laborers.

The GOLDEN ROCKET
Demonstrator represents an invitation to drive this great new car

We have put this Golden Rocket demonstrator on the streets to introduce you to the superior performance of the New Oakland Eight. We want you to know General Motors' lowest-priced eight by what it does, with your own hands at the controls.

The Golden Rocket is symbolic of this car's tremendous speed and power. Its engine develops 85 horsepower. That means one horsepower to every 37 pounds of car weight, a ratio that is not approached in any other car of Oakland's size and weight. That's why so few cars can match it in speed, in pick-up or in climbing the steepest hills. It is making new records over some of the steepest grades in the United States.

Hail the driver of the car with the Golden Rocket today, anywhere you see him. Jump in and take a ride. Notice how easily you can handle the car, shift the gears, apply the brakes. If it's more convenient, arrange at our showrooms for a demonstration. In either case, be sure to drive this car before you consider the purchase of any other new automobile. We'll be glad to have you base your opinion of the New Oakland Eight on what you learn at the wheel.

MRS. JOSIE W. PARTAIN CONVICTED OF FORGERY

Gets Four-Year Sentence for Alleged Fraudulent Will.

LAFAYETTE, Ga., March 6.—(AP) Mrs. Josie Wardlaw Partain was found guilty of forgery in connection with an alleged fraudulent will of J. R. Wardlaw in Walker county superior court here Thursday morning. Mrs. Partain was sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary.

Sentence of Mrs. Partain marks the second conviction in connection with the alleged forged Wardlaw will. D. F. Pope, Lafayette lawyer, having been found guilty by a jury Saturday and also sentenced to four years in the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Partain's trial was featured by charges of contempt of court, resulting from publication of her photograph in the Chattanooga Times. George Hull, photographer, and Fred Hixon, reporter, both of the staff of the Chattanooga newspaper, were sentenced to pay fines of $100 each or serve 20 days in jail by Judge James Maddox, in superior court of Walker county.

The photograph of Mrs. Josie Partain was snapped by Hull as Mrs. Partain, escorted by a deputy sheriff, was en route from the courthouse to the jail. The judge had previously warned Hixon that he would not permit Partain to be taken in the courtroom, and that pictures of defendants could be taken outside of the courtroom only with their consent.

Hull testified that he was familiar with the judge's rule that photographs could not be taken in the courtroom, but denied that, in taking the picture outside, he was knowingly violating the judge's instructions. Hixon testified that he knew the judge's rules, but that he had not told Hull of Judge Maddox's warning with respect to taking outside pictures. Hixon said that he had not assisted Hull in taking the picture, but did not know it had been taken until after it had been published in The Times.

Judge Maddox, expressing from the bench the opinion that newspapers have no right to publish a picture of anyone without his or her consent, declared that Hull was present when he had given his instructions to Hixon, and that, even if Hull did not hear him say that a photograph could not be taken outside without consent of the subject, notice to the one employee of The Times was sufficient notice to the other.

Three on Trial In Meigs Slaying

COLQUITT, Ga., March 6.—(AP) A jury was completed in Miller county superior court today to try John Abhibition, Clarence Bush and Charley Abhibition on charges of slaying Jeff Davis, of Meigs.

When the jury finally stood completed only five qualified jurors remained unexamined in the county. Taking of testimony was under way, with indications that the trial would move rapidly to completion.

The body of Davis was found in a creek near his farm home several months ago, and the three men on trial were arrested following the alleged confession of a negro in the body.

CHARLES J. HADEN VISITOR AT WAYCROSS

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 6.—Charles J. Haden, of Atlanta, who owns extensive timber lands in south Georgia, particularly in the region of the Okefenokee Swamp, has been a visitor here, accompanied by Keith Rogers, staff photographer of The Atlanta Constitution.

"If we expect Georgia to develop and attain the prosperity through her farms and natural resources we must set in motion the machinery necessary to keep more of our capital at home," he said, with reference to the development of this section of the state.

Mr. Rogers, who accompanied Mr. Haden to Waycross, is interested in the training camp of the Atlanta baseball team at Douglas, and will make a number of pictures of the Okefenokee and other points of interest in the Waycross section while in south Georgia.

SALARY LOAN FIRMS HARD HIT IN COURTS

MACON, Ga., March 6.—Salary loan companies have been hard hit in the court of appeals during the last few days, according to reports from that body.

The latest decision came yesterday in the case of E. D. Harvey vs. the City Finance Company. In this case Judge Jones, of superior court, who had held the assignments valid, was reversed.

Other decision in salary loan cases this week included: Etheridge vs. Wilson, and Jackson vs. Bloodworth. There are seven other cases pending in the court of appeals, all being parallel cases, it is stated.

Big points gained by the lawyers in these cases, it is stated, are that recalled assignments are dischargeable through bankruptcy, and establishing the point that the paper involved in the case is a loan and not an assignment.

WOMEN'S CLUBS MEET IN WAYCROSS TODAY

WAYCROSS, Ga., March 6.—(AP) Delegates from approximately 20 counties are expected to attend a meeting here Friday of the eleventh District Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Edwin Jarman, of Baxter president of the district organization, will preside.

Montana Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 4 Weeks

Gain in charm and vivaciousness. Gain a healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Please read this letter carefully: "Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

Miss Marian Bullard, pretty 18-year-old high school senior, of Alamo, Ga., is at liberty under bond of $2,000 for shooting and probably fatally wounding Miss Grace McDaniel, 26, whom she charged had wrecked her home. No specific charge has been lodged against the girl pending outcome of her victim's wounds. Officers said Miss Bullard's parents had separated and divorce action now is pending. The girl shot Miss McDaniel as she sat in an automobile at a filling station operated by Miss Bullard's father.

Future Farmers of Georgia Will Hold Speaking Contest

STATHAM, Ga., March 6.—The Future Farmers of Georgia, the statewide organization of farm boys studying vocational agriculture, through their president, Billy Bowdoin, of the Statham High school, have just announced plans for a speaking contest on farm topics in which approximately 1,000 boys in more than 100 schools will participate. Georgia Laymen Reply to Liggett

ATHENS, Ga., March 6.—Denial that figures of drunkenness in several Georgia cities, including Athens, Atlanta, Augusta and Macon produced a few days ago by Walter Liggett, newspaperman-investigator, prove that Georgia is wet, is made in statements by Dr. N. G. Slaughter, chairman of the Georgia lay delegates to the M. E. General Congress, and Judge W. G. Cornett, former United States commissioner.

Both statements assert that prohibition has produced better social conditions than existed prior to the adoption of the 18th amendment.

NOTES OF OPTIMISM SHOWN IN COLUMBUS

Postal Receipts Increase and
J. B. Knight Predicts Better Business.

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 6.—Along with the announcement by Charles E. Walton, postmaster, that Columbus postal receipts in February exceeded January by more than $2,000 despite the fact that there were three days more in the latter month, J. B. Knight, Jr., gave a most optimistic interview to the local press. So Columbus business circles are feeling more optimistic.

J. B. Knight, Jr., president of J. B. Knight & Sons of Columbus, which does a world-wide business in so-called junk, such as, for instance, second-hand railroads, which the company dismantles. Mr. Knight is therefore in touch with business activities both national and international.

Mr. Knight stated that improvement for 1930 had already set in, and added this comment:

"Business conditions, as applied to industries, and only with such do we come in contact, are very much better than they were several months ago," said Mr. Knight. "A big pipe mill in Birmingham, Ala., that operated about 50 per cent time last year is now running full time. Steel, which never dropped off as much as some others, is approaching full production. It is our best industrial barometer. We need never be unduly worried in a business while the demand for steel is around normal."

"Fertilizer producers who looked for a big cut down in the volume of their business for this year, now see a good increase for the present year. This shows that the farmers are going to work and have resources by which they can carry on. It indicates the agricultural people will have money this year."

"We handle scrap rubber, and are getting many inquiries for this commodity. This points to an increase in all lines in which rubber is used. Columbus is interested in tire production. There seems to have been too much curtailment by the tire manufacturers, and reaction is coming faster than was expected a short time ago."

"An unusual number of foreign inquiries are coming to us for various products which lead to believe foreign manufacture is picking up. This in turn should bring money with which other countries can take our exports."

Students at Berry
Learn Old Dances
From Henry Ford

MOUNT BERRY, Ga., March 6.—(AP) The polka, quadrill, and waltzes to popular tunes of long ago, were danced here last night by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford.

The dance was given in the lofty gymnasium of the girls' school, one of the first buildings in the group given to the girls' division of the Berry schools by the Detroit manufacturer.

The student body of the schools, the Fords and Sir Willard Grenville and Lady Grenville took part in the dancing to music played by Mr. Ford's own string band assisted by the Berry orchestra.

On their arrival last night at the schools, the Fords and Grenvilles, accompanied by Miss Martha Berry, founder of the institution for mountain children, were met by the Berry school band.

Along the route on War Memorial drive, the Berry school band, the log cabin cottages where the visitors were housed, the distinguished party passed through two lines of students with torches and lanterns. The more than 1,000 students participated in the candlelight assembly.

It was the official welcome planned by the students of the schools. Mrs. Ford termed it "the loveliest sight I have seen in years."

The Fords and the Grenvilles are spending their time today visiting the 15,000 acres of school grounds, the hundred buildings and watching the students at work and play, as well as helping money to learn to dance.

The group was escorted about the campus and through buildings of the foundation school, the girls' school and junior college.

CAISON FOUND GUILTY, SENTENCED TO DIE

Ludowici Man Convicted of Slaying C. H. Phillips on January 17.

LUDOWICI, Ga., March 6.—(AP) Preston H. Caison, of Ludowici, was tried and found guilty of murdering C. Herbert Phillips at today's session of superior court and was sentenced to die in the electric chair on April 18.

Judge J. Saxton Daniel, presiding, ordered that Caison be removed to Milledgeville on March 20. The jury returned the verdict without a recommendation at 11:30 o'clock tonight, having received the case at 7:30 o'clock after the charge of the court.

Caison was indicted for slaying Phillips on January 17. A jury on yesterday found him sane, his plea of insanity in which there was testimony that he had been abnormal since the World War being disregarded by the jury. The state in the trial today on the indictment contended that Caison shot Phillips while under the influence of liquor and without provocation.

Witnesses testified that Caison played a game of pool in Phillips' poolroom on the evening of the slaying, returning for it in small change. He returned to the poolroom looking for $5 which he claimed to have lost. He asked Phillips if he had given it to him in payment for the game, whereupon Phillips is said to have emptied his pocket to show Caison that he had not given him more than a $1 bill on his person. Caison left, apparently satisfied, but returned 30 minutes later with a shotgun in his hand and asked for Phillips. Witnesses testified that Caison fired when he saw Phillips, the load passing through Phillips' arm into his head. Death followed in a few hours.

Servant's Coffin,
Made in '65, Still Awaits Occupancy

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 6.—(AP) Since 1865—more than three-score years, a hand-hewn coffin has waited for Josh Gibson, negro servant in the MacFarland family—and it's still waiting.

Back in Josh's boyhood days he was taken seriously ill. He sank rapidly and all hope for his recovery abandoned. All negroes on the plantation during the period the checks sent them by the customer were cashed and the cancelled checks returned monthly to the plaintiff. They also asserted that no claim was ever made by the bank that Graves F. Stephenson had any interest in the account until after it was closed.

The coffin stands upright today in the old carriage house under lock and key, where it has been all these years. No negro family has ever been prevailed upon to even consider the use of the coffin for any of their loved ones who have died.

Superstition among the negroes on the plantation has caused them to give the carriage house a wide berth at night. It is the general belief that the "white folks made dat coffin fer de wrong man and his jes sittin' dar waitin' fer someone to claim it."

Ex-Senator Johnson Still Is Missing

TALBOTTON, Ga., March 6.—(AP) Sheriff J. H. Ferguson announced tonight that two days of search had failed to find former State Senator Emmet F. Johnson who was not present in court here yesterday morning to answer to a charge of forgery.

Johnson was at liberty under a $5,000 bond. When he did not appear in court, Judge C. Frank McLaughlin ordered his arrest and announced that he would increase bond to $25,000.

Johnson, who is a resident of Chattahoochee county, is also under $3,000 bond on a charge of forgery in Marion county.

RAMSPECK RESENTS
SLURS ON SECTION*Tells Committee on Contractors' Bill Georgia Men Are Stable.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(Special.)—Congressman Robert Ramspeck put a quick end to veiled attacks on the business methods of southern contractors when he interrupted a hearing before the labor committee of the house today to tell the witnesses that the committee was "tired of having his section picked on."

Several witnesses in appearing in favor of bills before the committee which would make necessary for contractors on federal buildings anywhere in the country to pay the prevailing or standard scale of wages, had referred slurring to "fly-by-night" concerns "from the south" who had erected buildings for the government with cheap labor. Representative Ramspeck finally demanded to know if either the National Construction Company or the Loftis Plumbing Company, both of Atlanta, and both of which now are handling big contracts in Washington, were paying wages below the scale here. When he was informed that they were not, he further brought out that only once in 10 years had a Georgia concern paid below the current scale and that concern was not from Atlanta.

The National Construction Company is now completing the last link of the mammoth Arlington Memorial bridge, while the Loftis Plumbing Company is installing the plumbing in the new department of commerce building, one of the largest jobs of its nature in Washington.

Atlanta Painted
As Chicago Rival
In Graft, Crime

"Atlanta, in proportion to population, is worse than Chicago," Dr. Len C. Broughton, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, declared Thursday in discussing his subject for Sunday night, "Atlanta's Robbers and Grafters."

"We have been assailed from many quarters because we have announced we are going to preach Sunday night on this subject," Dr. Broughton stated. "We are told by self-interested parties to keep out of the grafting situation, because we know nothing about it and that it is none of our business anyway."

"Our reply is, let us wait until Sunday night and see if we know nothing about it, and if it is none of our business."

"If there was no other angle to it than the involvement of our public schools, that would warrant our getting into it up to our ears. I am told that the school children from the grammar grades up are discussing this situation as they would talk of the invasion of a highwayman. This thing has been going on for months, and has worked untold injury to the minds of Atlanta's future citizens. It is claimed that the whole school system is permeated with gross extravagance, if not graft. No power seems to hold a check on the business side of the situation. It is a part of a rotten system of government that has us by the throat. Every day it gets worse."

"What lies at the bottom of it will shock our people beyond expression. Long ago it was planned, and for a long time it has been at work. The time has now come to put a stop to it."

City Seeks Buyer
For Eight Safes
In Old City Hall

L. Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of buildings and grounds for the city hall, has eight large "white elephants" in the form of discarded safes on his hands and Thursday moved to dispose of them to the best advantage of the government.

The safes were in the old city hall, but when the borough moved the seat of government it could not move the safes because those who planned the building contemplated purchase of new and modern furnishings and did not make doors sufficiently large to take the old safes into the new structure.

They have been advertised once, but no one seems to want them, and they are still in the old city hall building.

"We must dispose of them in some way," Councilman George Lyle, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee of council, said, "and we are asking anyone interested to communicate with Mr. Dewberry."

MAN SURRENDERSAlleged Liquor Law Violator "Walks" In.

"Mr. Haney sent for me so I just came on up," announced Cicero "Red" Hemphill as he walked into the office of United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith here Thursday afternoon to "give himself up" on charges of violating the prohibition laws.

The "surrender" was considered even more remarkable in view of the fact that "Red" had successfully eluded a recent raid at 371 Victoria street by scaling a fence in nothing flat which officers testified was at least 7 feet tall.

It was explained that the establishment had been surrounded but that when the front door detachment made its entrance, "Red" made such a sudden exit through the back door that the rear guard was taken completely by surprise.

Commissioner Griffith placed him under bond of $100.

City Golf Receipts Show Big Increase

Municipal golf course receipts during January and February more than doubled that for the same period of 1935.

1935, according to L. L. Wallis, general manager of parks. Receipts from the golf courses for the first two months of this year were $5,000, compared with $1,400 for the same months of 1935. Mr. Wallis attributes the increase to the fact that no park passes, including the privilege of playing golf free, have been given out this year.

Do Women Suffer More Than Men?

Physicians tell us that the nervous system of woman is more highly organized, more delicately poised, and therefore, more sensitive to disturbances and susceptible to pain than that of men.

Women especially appreciate and profit by the use of Capudine, because it quickly relieves high nerve tension and pain by soothing the nerves—not by deadening them. For nervous headache, periodic pains, pains in the back and sides, neuralgia and rheumatic pains, nothing is so quickly effective and satisfactory as Capudine. Being liquid it acts much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore is the ideal remedy.

Every home should be supplied with Capudine. It brings grateful relief from nerve strain and pain, and affords peaceful relaxation in just a few minutes. At drug stores in 30c and 50c sizes.—(adv.)

THE HIGHWAY CHANGES.

The resignation of Colonel Sam Tate from the chairmanship of the state highway board will cause regret to the citizens of the commonwealth. They realize that as he retires they lose from that important agency a man of exceptional qualifications and wisdom in public service. But the care of his health, by the counsel of his physicians, has constrained him to forego further administration of the post he reluctantly assumed for the public good. He carries with him, in his retirement, the highest esteem and gratitude of his fellow citizens, and their hope for his early return to health and accustomed spirit.

The prompt appointment of Captain J. W. Barnett, of Athens, by Governor Hardman, to be chairman of the highway board, will be received with signal satisfaction. Captain Barnett is an engineer of considerable skill and wide acceptance as a capable public works constructor. The duties of the highway board are no puzzle to him and he has that vision and vigor which are needed in the wide work that lies ahead of it.

The construction of an arterial road system serving the main highways of the state first is not a political function. It is a labor of the most vital economic importance and the people of Georgia are fortunate now to have in their service a practical board of highway commissioners both capable and concerned to serve the most essential needs of the state.

THE CATCHING-UP SOUTH.

The graphic address recently broadcast by Dr. Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, detailing the accomplishments in southern industry has attracted widespread attention by the press of other sections of the nation. Influential newspapers are confessing that the revealed situation in the south, as Dr. Klein has compacted the facts, is something wonderful to those who have failed to watch the industrial growth behind the divisive Potomac and Ohio rivers.

Realization is at last obtaining among capital investors, competitive manufacturers, and developers of industrial enterprises that the south is now a region to be reckoned seriously; that it is no more a mere supplier of materials and market for the finished goods of the east and north. It is rapidly entering the wide area of national business and the broad fields of international trade.

The fact which is most intriguing to business thinkers and commentators is that the southern industrial spirit is not foreign in origin—neither inspired by nor conducted by invaders in the field from the east and the north, and particularly unfinanced and unexploited by business adventurers from other countries. As Dr. Klein pointed out, it is the work of men to the manner born using the familiar southern spirit of adventure and emulation.

Always must be borne in mind that the reason for the slowness of the south in catching up with and keeping step with modern American industrialism was the effects of the great war by which she was prostrated and which was equal to the hamstringing of two generations of her people. But with the gradual growth of her capital, accumulated from her staple crops of cotton, tobacco, rice and naval stores, and the ever-present urge of the southern passion for independence, the past three decades have been marked by the intelligent and potential lifting of the south into an industrial position that challenges the competition of all other sections in the future.

The old order that was consumed to ashes by the fiery besom of intermeddling war cannot be restored. It would be a calamity to the south if it could be revived and made popular. A modern materialistic psychology has happily purged out the old semi-feudal, baronial system. The south has raised up a new breed of sons with a new sense of values and they are the men who have set up and are managing the industrial, financial and commercial economies of a distinctly new south.

These are tremendously important and inspiring facts. The spirit of them needs, pari passu, to be carried over into our fields of social and political improvement and competition with the better examples of the nation.

CONFISCATING OUR MELONS.

The statement by Henry Ford, given to the Associated Press, that railroad freight rates are "too high everywhere" is backed by his long and wide experience as a mass producer and national shipper of freight. He has owned an important railroad and closely studied the freight rate structure of the national railway system.

In line with the Ford protest comes the following vehement letter to The Constitution:

Editor Constitution: Of all the consummate damnable outrages attempted to be put over on "suffering humanity" this increase of freight rates on watermelons is the worst. The poor farmers have made money on this crop the past three years for the first time ever, and now the railroads, predicated such conditions would continue, have decided as usual they will step up and take all the profits.

The raise of 50 per cent on interstate and 100 per cent on intrastate shipments is nothing short of a crime. There must be some body of men who can prevent this. As I understand the interstate rate is up to the I. C. C. It should and must stop here.

J. J. LITTLEJOHN.

On the face of the facts in this case of the Georgia watermelons the proposed increase of rates appears indefensible and confiscatory. The melon growers until but recently have raised and shipped their melons only to find in the end that freight rates and marketing commissions have consumed the value of their crop. In some cases they have actually found themselves in debt to the commission merchants because the consignment failed on the market to realize their charges.

That is an intolerable, indefensible state of conditions imposed upon Georgia watermelon growers who produce annually from 37 to 40 per cent of all the watermelons consumed by the American people. The question now arises whether they are to continue their industry, or abandon it except for local consumption because of the confiscatory shipping rates set up by the common carriers.

The I. C. C., having power over intrastate railroad rates was established to protect the public from unfair and exorbitant profiteering exactions of the transportation companies.

In this case of the producers of a popular product for which there is a great annual demand in season all over the nation the growers should be protected from ravenous railway rates that leave them no chance of profit from their enterprise and labor.

The eagle watches the fish-hawk and, when that industrious bird rises with a catch, pounces upon him and takes away his prey. The common carriers should not be permitted to imitate that practice.

Dr. Glenn Frank accuses President Hoover of conniving for a commission government of the nation. Well, Grant gave us something worse.

The report that Hoover "is losing in the west" is unimportant. Republican presidents always lose out there until voting time rolls around. The "sons of the wild jackass" know their masters' crib!

Garibaldi's Creed.

A summary of his political creed, written by Garibaldi about the year 1874 and found among the papers of his son-in-law, which are preserved at a Milan museum, contains a clause which might be regarded as a forecast of the Mussolini regime. The "creed" is being published in full in the Italian magazine, Camilla. Rosa or Red Shirt, whose editor is a grandson of the Italian "liberator." The document comprises seven clauses the last of which reads: "As soon as possible, being master of herself, Italy must choose a republican form of government. The most honest among Italians should be chosen as a temporary dictator, with the same powers enjoyed by the Fabius and Cincinnatus rulers. The dictatorial system will last until the nation is free from the yoke of liberty, and her existence is no longer menaced by powerful neighbors. Then the dictatorship will be replaced by a regular republican government."

Thieves' Jargon.

For the last three years the arrest of thieves of a certain class has revealed their jargon in their conversations and even telegrams in a code which proved the despair of experts. Of the old jargon there was not a sign. The fact was pretty well established, however, that international thieves were able to communicate with one another in a way that defied detection. A year ago Alberto Pinto, a Spaniard, was arrested in various European cities, was examined a school copybook bearing the imprint of a Madrid bookbinder and a column filled with words arranged in a code which the detective had no meaning. In Paris Pinto, when confronted with the book and the account of it, admitted that in 1926 at Lleridan, Spain, there was an international congress of thieves, among them three Spaniards, two Portuguese, one Chilean, two Greeks, four Englishmen, four Americans and one Italian. Pinto, however, could not be persuaded to reveal what any of the words meant and even denied the police to find out. After the discovery that every code word was followed without any space by its equivalent in Spanish spelled backward.

Not only have the Dutch founded New York, it is claimed by a Dutchman, Adrian Lubbers, to make the artistic discovery of old New Amsterdam. Lubbers has just opened a new exposition in Paris. It comprises 16 canvases picturing New York which reveal a graceful and original personality. Adrian Lubbers has paid the price for his knowledge of New York. He was a prize almost a year ago as a young man of good looks and a promising career in the navy. He was in the navy in the service of his parents' opposition. He became a chauffeur, sold herring, sang songs in the saloons of Harlem and Hoboken. In the midst of these adventures he met a keen observer, filling his soul with visions of the great city. He came to know and love it with a curious intensity. In those days there was born in him an artistic passion for New York that never left.

Health Talks

NO MORE DIPHTHERIA.

Diphtheria (pronounced di-the-re-ah, and not dip) was many spell and pronunciation it was far more frightful 40 of 50 years ago than it is today. Not so long ago it was a very real case than it is now, but because they had no reliable antidote for it half a century ago. Today we do not fear diphtheria for we have always armed with antitoxin, and that neutralizes the poison (toxin) of diphtheria as vinegar counteracts the effects of lye.

It is now the practice of giving physicians to give a protective dose of antitoxin to every child who is in contact with a case of diphtheria, unless the child is known to be immune. This is the best and safest way to protect the child. A child of a young adult (older persons are less likely to have diphtheria and usually can stand it better if they do get it) exposed to diphtheria cannot be protected so quickly enough with the T-A (toxin-antitoxin) method which is generally employed to immunize infants and pre-school children, because this toxin-antitoxin method gives active immunity, and that requires several weeks, probably two or three months, to develop.

In health departments, at least in communities where there is practical public health protection and not merely paper protection, provide the best anti-diphtheria line of defense. Thus, when a physician encounters a case of diphtheria, he may procure from the health department as many 3,000 unit doses as he needs to administer to non-immune persons who are in contact with the disease. Then the health department provides free antitoxin for the treatment of the patient, and this comes in 20,000 unit doses, no less, as experience has amply proved that it is scarcely worthwhile to give less than 20,000 units in the first case of diphtheria, and in the subsequent or confirmed by bacteriological culture. It should be clearly understood that this antitoxin provided by your public health authorities is the best and safest you can receive, that it is free of cost, and that every citizen or ward of the state is entitled to it, just as he is entitled to protection against fire.

Furthermore, the state provides, free of cost, the best toxin-antitoxin for the use of the family physician in the immunization of infants and young children against diphtheria and even family physician who deserves the name ought to make it his special business to give this protection to every baby and young child in his family.

It is advisable to immunize the baby at the age of six months, or soon thereafter as possible, for the infant is in the greatest danger from diphtheria at that age. Usually the method comprises, first, the Schick test, which shows whether the infant is susceptible to the disease. If immune, and they do not need toxin-antitoxin; then injection of a few drops of T-A under the skin, usually in two or three doses at intervals of a week or more. The whole business entails at most three visits to the doctor's office or the patient's home, and the usual charges for fees in some communities doctors give the three doses of T-A to their regular clients for the fee usually charged for office consultation.

In London a demonstration on Tower Hill attended by 3,000 persons led to some skirmishes with the police in which five demonstrators were injured. Four men were arrested in

LOOKING AND LISTENING

The Farmers of Georgia Are Their Own Oppressors by Heavy Taxes.

The farmers of Georgia are represented to be in a bad fix economically, and that's no lie, either. The latest trustworthy estimate is that there are 145,000 white farmers in the state and 100,000 colored farmers, who actually and solely depend upon their farms for their livelihood.

There are some others in the professions, in banking and in other lines, who are carrying on the next mortgage debt upon their farms of $100,000, and their improved lands, which means farm lands, were returned on the state tax digest for 1928 as valued at $208,685,940. That few days ago it is forced off the farm are carrying on the next mortgage debt. It is more than they can stand up under and thousands of farmers are being annually foreclosed upon by the farm mortgage money lenders.

Losing People; Increasing Products.

The farm population of the entire country is now 4,500,000 fewer than it was 20 years ago, and the loss would have been much greater but for the fact that 23 persons are born on the farms to 10 who die there; but the loss is still being made up by the fact that there are 65,000 idle farms in Georgia is due in large measure to the migration of unskilled farmers, white and black, to the cities where increasing populations and the need for labor are being met. Nevertheless, by and large, improved farm machinery and methods of cultivation have made it possible for those who remain upon the farms to produce more than ever before, and they are suffering from surpluses and unremunerative prices.

The Main Curse of the Farmer.

Speaking for Georgia alone, the main curse of the farmer is the excessive number of counties in the state. As shown in The Constitution frequently, and the time only a few counties are needed to govern the state. The main curse of the farmer is the excessive number of counties in the state. Lost from home the tangled wool-lands find
Their temples vast between us;
And where the wayward fugitives sift
A spring blossoms screen us.

How Spring's footfalls re-echo in the hill
Where late leaflets clattered torn
From out the verdant womb of vale

Soft strolls the wandering wind
With kisses of tints of blue.

That silvers in the dew.

Now swells the tide that folds in many a dream
And where the wayward fugitives sift
A spring blossoms screen us.

Along the fences dogwood plumes of white
Like grey-haired palsied maids,
Trembling where the breeze holds the grass
Loom light.

To weave her beauteous plaids,
From old decaying stumps green mosses sweep
Where ancient giants stood.
Blest is he whose soul delights to Communion with the wood!

'Everybody's Business'

Rockefeller Oil Group Heeds Suggestion of Federal Conservation Board Asking Industry To Reduce to Six-Day-a-Week Basis.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—When the federal conservation board suggested to the oil industry that it reduce to a six-day-a-week basis all refinery runs of crude oil in order to clear up the present glut of gasoline, differences of opinion immediately came to the surface among the larger oil leaders.

The Rockefeller group, led by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, agreed quickly to the suggestion, although making it plain that a reduction on account of its own operations was not needed, but that it was interested in uniting on a program which would bring about a more orderly balance between production and refining.

So, its acceptance.

R. C. Holmes, president, Texas Corporation, dissented, on the ground that regulation of refinery runs would appear to lead into "almost insurmountable technical and legal difficulties."

Mr. Holmes, in his statement, made reference to the economic program outlined at Houston a year ago, in which it was decided that the 1929 production should be kept within the limits of the production of 1928. Had this been realized, the government would have been in no need of the price of crude oil," Mr. Holmes says.

The fact is that the increase in the price of crude oil, from 1928 to 1929, was 100 per cent, while the price of refined gasoline in 1929 over 1928 amounted to 104,000,000 barrels.

Still, overproduction has always been a problem in the oil industry.

A few days ago I asked Walter Teague, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey, his views on the present oil outlook.

"As for the oil business there is going forward a steady gain in sales," he said. "We look for an increase of about 8 per cent in gasoline consumption over the entire country for the year 1930."

"Unfortunately, overproduction, both in crude oil and gasoline, has resulted in competitive price making to a point where earnings are not at all in keeping with the volume of business. I am sure that the unsatisfactory relation between costs and selling prices and that this will result in gradual improvement as curtailment makes progress."

Today President Thomas G. Masaryk, of Czechoslovakia, celebrated his eightieth birthday. He has become a local event. For this son of a coachman, who for the last 12 years has presided over the affairs of one of the most prosperous and intelligent nations in Europe, is one of the outstanding world personalities of the present century.

This nation of 15,500,000 people was conceived and brought into existence by three college professors, of whom one was President Masaryk. The other two were Dr. Eduard Benes, professor of Prague, and Dr. Milan Stefanik, well-known exiled Slovakian professor of astronomy, who lived in Paris.

With funds raised largely in the United States, these three men formed the Czechoslovakian national council in Paris, which eventually became the nucleus of the new state.

Those who believe that one should retire from active life at 60, will find in Masaryk a man who has become a great work of restoring a government to Czechoslovakia, which had been divided for 300 years before.

For this man the life struggle has not been easy. He began as a locksmith's apprentice in Vienna, then became a teacher, then a school principal, and finally a minor professor at the university.

Under his leadership and that of Dr. Benes, who during the past few years has been either prime minister or foreign minister, the nation has developed into one of the most substantial in Europe. It is a true state, with a government, a parliament, a judiciary and a police force.

"President Masaryk symbolizes the truth that ideals are the most practical of all. He has carried into the world of politics the ideals of civilization which he preached as a philosopher and a teacher," says Professor Felix Frankfurter, of Harvard University.

A fitting tribute to a great idealist. (Copyright, 1930, for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Woman Is Sought In Brutal Murder

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 6.—(P) Mrs. Clotilde Marchand, 50, wife of Henri Marchand, famous artist of the Buffalo Museum of Natural Sciences, was slain, apparently by a woman, in a rooming house here this afternoon. Mrs. Marchand was an artist of some note.

Mrs. Marchand was struck over the head with a sharp instrument and indications were that the killer grabbed her by the throat and attempted to strangle her.

Finger marks on Mrs. Marchand's neck, made by the slender fingers of a woman.

Although the police refused to admit a tangible clue, it was learned that a suspect, a woman, was being tracked by detectives.

After lengthy debate, Senator Steiwer, republican, Oregon, won approval of an amendment to place on the free list sodium chlorate, now dutiable at 12 cents a pound.

Senator Copeland opposed the amendment, saying it would leave the farmers at the mercy of Russian exporters and ruin an industry at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Favoring it, Senator Blaine declared the amendment would be a "good idea."

"If this bill is passed and the new coalition carries out its plans," he asserted, "not one additional penny will go into the pockets of the farmers. On the other hand you are going to pick the pockets of millions of dollars."

"It is a reduced cost of production and it feeds it badly."

Lindy Is Thrown From Polo Pony

DEL MONTE, Cal., March 6.—(P) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was thrown from a polo pony here today and dragged for 25 feet. He was severely shaken but escaped injury.

Lindbergh was riding a mount owned by J. C. Cowdin, of New York, at the time of the accident. The service was galloping down the Del Monte polo field when the pony suddenly sent its rider sprawling to the turf.

Before he could halt the pony, Lindbergh was dragged along the turf. He laughed off the incident and apparently was not hurt.

The colonel, here for glider tests, went for the horse ride when lack of winds prevented him from flying.

PROHIBITION FRIENDS DENOUNCE ATTACKS

aiding serving of liquor at social entertainments "an utterable nuisance and their only anxiety was as to how most effectively they could themselves and their families of it."

Her testimony was based, she said, on replies to a poll she conducted among social matrons after conferring with, and largely under the influence of, former Chief Justice William Howard Taft. Out of 2,330 women approached, she said, 1,437 favored repealing the law while only 247 disapproved.

She characterized Mr. Atterbury's testimony favoring repeal as "utterly unrepresentative and unworthy a leader of public opinion."

She termed Mr. DuPont a private prohibitionist "in his own gunpowder plant and publicly an anti-prohibitionist for himself and his motor driving friends."

After arguing that the farmer was immeasurably better off under prohibition, as a result of better markets and prices for almost all his products, Taber said it was "indefensible for the president of a great railroad to advocate prohibition and the return of the saloon."

Without mentioning by name either Mr. Atterbury or Mr. DuPont Taber said "an automobile manufacturer placed himself in a ridiculous position of advocating intoxicating liquors when every one recognizes that as drunken drivers are the cause, in large measure, of the use of automobiles must decline."

Taber said the reason why the liquor traffic would never return to America was the automobile. Asserting that it was evident that the eighteenth amendment would not be repealed and the saloon would never return in any form, the farm leader said the government would not be forced into the liquor business. He stated that the next congress would have a dryer membership than the present.

Asks White Man's Chance.

An assertion by California prohibitionists that the lives of 100,000 Americans met expressions of disbelief on the part of several wet members of the legislature, particularly after the figures from the prohibition bureau were analyzed by the questioners to show that since prohibition the number of deaths from alcoholism had again begun to decline.

The witness, however, contended that the peak was reached three years ago.

The great majority of the American people would never repeat the dry laws until it had had a "white man's fighting chance," Connolly declared, after presenting figures which he said showed that liquor in America was not a product of prohibition but had existed for several decades.

Del. New Jersey writer combined his plea to retain the eighteenth amendment in the constitution with a condemnation of illegal methods of enforcement. He held that the search and seizure laws should not be violated and that the safeguards of the constitution existed principally to protect the unfortunate. He asked, however, why prohibition laws were made a test of the sovereignty of the government to "break up once and for all American lawlessness," concluding the state, that other than the popular laws would be repealed if the eighteenth amendment were ever taken from the constitution.

Barnes Must Have Warrant.

Metropolitan newspaper editor, accused by him of "dropping poison" at breakfast cups all over the Atlantic seaboard with their ridicule of the prohibition amendment, was one of the founders of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment with responsibility for such disrespect for law.

Under questioning by LaGuardia, Connolly said he "would hate to see the country give in" but, if the dry law is impossible of enforcement, "I would repeat or modify it."

"How far would you go to enforce the law?" LaGuardia asked.

"Not beyond the Volstead law," replied Connolly. "I never would favor anything but strictly legal enforcement methods protecting the rights of the law violator all the time."

"I am opposed to going into a man's home on suspicion without a warrant."

GEORGIA PROFESSORS ATTACK CENSORSHIP

Eight Join in Request to Senate To Again Defeat
Smoot Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(Special.)—Eight college professors in Georgia, seven from the State University at Athens, and one from Emory, have signed a petition laid before the senate today by Senator Bronson Cutting, republican, of New Mexico, protesting against a provision of the pending tariff bill authorizing customs inspectors and customs courts to exercise censorship over foreign literature brought into the United States.

The petition, bearing the names of some 500 university presidents, college professors, lawyers, judges and writers, including a total of 12 names from Georgia, was prepared by the National Popular Government League, of which Judson King is director. It was presented to the upper chamber by Senator Cutting in keeping with the vigorous fight he made against the censorship provision at the time it was adopted by a close vote some weeks ago.

The Georgia signers of the document include the following: L. I. Hendren, professor of physics, University of Georgia; J. M. Reade, professor, University of Georgia; J. H. Tyron, tutor, University of Georgia; J. H. Miller, University of Georgia; W. D. Hooper, University of Georgia; Mrs. R. J. Richardson, professor, College of Agriculture, University of Georgia; H. W. Harvey, Ext. Hort., Landscaping College of Agriculture, University of Georgia; Charles R. Hart, professor of romance languages, Emory University; Guy C. Hamilton, Augusta; C. Secher, E. E. N. and T. specialist; E. E. Larkin, J. L. Stephens, Georgia coastal plain experiment station. While appealing to congress to rescind the censorship, the petition urged that if it is to be retained the provision be amended to provide for the establishment of a commission which would be directed to pass on all works of literature instead of leaving the task to courts and customs inspectors, who, it was contended, are hardly to be considered qualified to pass on the merits of classical writings.

A strict interpretation and administration of the provision would result in the barring of highly prized literary efforts of such world renowned authors as Chaucer, Shakespeare, Ibsen, Voltaire, Swift and others, it was asserted.

Senator Cutting asked that members of the chamber read the list of names carefully as showing the type of educators and literary men who are opposing the censorship.

NEW TONIC DID WONDERS FOR MY HAIR AND SCALP, SHE SAYS

ANOTHER LADY SAYS
IT IS WONDERFUL

"My scalp was in terrible condition and broken out badly, and considerable dandruff worried me too. Besides that, I had quite a few gray hairs, so I began using Lea's Hair Tonic, and by the time I had used the first bottle my scalp felt much better, and after four months' use I found my scalp in perfect condition, and all dandruff and gray hairs gone. It is wonderful and I am sending a photo so you can see how nice and beautiful my hair is, thanks to Lea's," writes Mrs. Sabina Vila, 1917 11th Ave., Tampa, Fla.

Whether one's hair is blonde, red, auburn or jet black makes no difference in using Lea's. Daily massage of the scalp with a few drops brings the scalp, hair roots and circulation into vigorous condition and gradually the gray hairs turn back to their old-time youthful color, no matter the age. No stain or disagreeable features. One may defy even the expert to detect its use. Thousands of fastidious men and women use Lea's Hair Tonic. Gray hairs, dandruff or scalp troubles are a detriment socially or in business. Gray haired folks look many years younger and better groomed in a few weeks' time. If willing to give it a trial obtain a bottle at the nearest drug store. Apply if desired to a small hidden spot a few weeks, if skeptical, and note results. If the druggist hasn't Lea's, send dollar bill, check or money order to Lea's Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md. Satisfactory results in six weeks or money refunded without quibble or question.—(adv.)

Fair, Convicted of Murder, Attends Sister's Funeral

A brief excursion into the outside world was made Thursday by Fred D. Fair, inmate of Fulton tower, to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Lottis Smith, from the South Side Baptist church.

Fair, who is under death sentence for the murder of Patrolman J. E. McDaniel, obtained permission from Judge G. H. Howard, of Fulton superior court, to make the trip to the funeral.

He was accompanied by Deputy Sheriffs Jim White, J. E. Nelms and John Hopkins.

Convicted and sentenced to death at his first trial, Fair obtained a new trial from the state supreme court through his attorney, Len B. Guilbeau. The second trial also resulted in the death sentence, and Fair is now awaiting the result of a second appeal to the state supreme court.

LOW COTTON PRICES HIT IN HARRIS WIRE

George S. Harris, president of the Exposition Cotton Mills, and member of the executive committee of the Cotton Textile Institute, Thursday said he had wired Carl Williams, member of the federal farm board, that the present low level in cotton prices had "seriously crippled American spinners."

The telegram sent to Mr. Williams last night follows:

"The decline in the price of cotton has seriously crippled American spinners. The industry as a whole considered 17 cent cotton cheap enough and carried relatively little future hedges from that point down. I think it safe to say that from a standpoint of price of cotton obtaining, spinners have suffered far greater than farmers. This coming after several years of inadequate operating margin, places the American cotton textile industry in a most serious condition."

Mr. Harris pointed out that the decline in the price of cotton had created a lack of confidence in the market and had restricted buying of manufactured cloth which had declined more rapidly than the raw cotton.

Clear, Cooler
Weather Due
Following Rain

The same storm center area which swept suddenly out of the northwest Thursday and gave Atlanta the severest drizzling it has had in some weeks is scheduled to continue on its way today, bringing clear and slightly colder weather in its wake, according to the official forecast of C. F. von Herrmann, local meteorologist.

Starting in western Canada, a barometric depression shifted with great rapidity in a general southeasterly direction, causing snow in some sections and rain rather generally throughout the cotton belt, the bureau chief explained Thursday afternoon. The barometer chart here showed that the pressure was falling in a precipitate manner at this time and this fact indicated clear skies by this afternoon, he stated.

The temperature drop is not expected to be anything drastic. Thursday's extremes were 46 and 53. Approximately the same low is on the schedule for this morning, to be followed by a rise to the 50-mark during the day. After this another decrease will be in order. "But we'll have to wait another day before we can say just how low it is going," Mr. von Herrmann states.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT MOVES TO CITY HALL

Despite inclement weather conditions, transfer of headquarters of the Atlantic public schools from the Walker Street school to the new quarters on the top half dozen floors of the new city hall was begun Thursday night.

The work will be completed and the department ready to function by Monday morning, according to administration officials. The board will hold its regular March meeting in the school auditorium of the city hall Tuesday.

KILLING OF BUZZARDS PERMITTED IN STATE

The hawks have had their day in court in Atlanta.

Now comes the buzzard. Complaints reaching the state game and fish office from the vicinity of Atlanta are that buzzards have caused stock farmers serious trouble by killing young pigs. Inquiries are made as to what relief, if any, may be had.

"Contrary to the general opinion," Peter S. Twitty, commissioner of game and fish, said, "killing a buzzard is permitted by law. In such cases as this the only thing to do is to kill them."

$51,478 IN STATE TAX
FROM SINGLE ESTATE

R. C. Norman, state tax commissioner, Thursday reported collection of $51,478 in inheritance tax from a single Georgia estate. Mr. Norman declined to give the name of the deceased or the location of the estate.

The gross value of the estate, he said, was $1,437,577. Under the law, the tax is levied on the excess over an exemption of $100,000 net, the commissioner explained.

Atlanta Intercivic League Formed and Officers Named

Robert P. McLarty Is Elected President of Body—Organization Will Be Non-Political.

Formation of the Atlanta Intercivic League to be composed of some 65 similar community and divisional organizations throughout Atlanta, Fulton and DeKalb counties for the purpose of creating and maintaining an organized center of activity and to promote and improve civic and social conditions was projected here Thursday night at a meeting at the Chamber of Commerce building when a constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected.

While the organization has been in existence since 1927, this was said to mark the first definite step towards making it a citywide enterprise by drawing together in its membership representatives from smaller groups in order to bring about more concerted action.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Robert P. McLarty; vice president, Brown Hayes; treasurer, McWhorter Milner; secretary, W. W. Matthews; assistant secretary, S. C. Noland; director of publicity and organization, W. T. Harrison; divisional directors, John L. Hudson, southeast; E. Stephens, northeast; W. B. Duvall, southwest; and Fred E. Cresswell, northwest.

The above were named by the nominating committee headed by Joseph A. McCord and unanimously elected by the gathering. W. D. Hoffman retired as president and was given a rising vote of thanks for his services to the organization.

As set out in the constitution, the league shall be "non-political and non-partisan, and neither it nor any member organization shall advocate the candidacy of any person or persons. It shall at all times maintain a neutral attitude between various political factions and be a forum before which both sides may expect a respectful and unprejudiced hearing. It shall be the duty of the association to promote the fullest publicity as to the doings and avowed principles of all public officers, employees and candidates for office."

Horace Russell, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was a visitor at the gathering and made a brief talk in which he praised the spirit of the meeting in fostering closer cooperation between various civic groups and requested the same mutual help in the work of the Atlanta chamber.

JOHN S. McCLELLAND NAMED ELK LEADER

John S. McClelland was re-elected exalted ruler of Atlanta Lodge, No. 78, B. P. O. E., at the annual election of officers held in the lodgeroom of the Elks' Home at 736 Peachtree street, N. E., Thursday night. It is the third term that Mr. McClelland has served.

Other officers elected were: L. J. Baley, esteemed leading knight; William T. Jordan, esteemed local knight; Joseph R. Cooke, esteemed lecturing knight; R. E. Lee Reynolds, secretary; R. B. Cunningham, treasurer; James J. Bonner, tiller.

Mr. McClelland also was elected representative to the Grand Lodge, with Theo. Mast alternative representative. Newman Lasser was named trustee.

Caldwell Is Held Under $2,000 Bond

After a hearing Thursday morning before Recorder A. W. Callaway, Howard Caldwell, 21, of 151 Georgia avenue, a general utility man in a downtown department store, was ordered held to the Fulton county grand jury under a $2,000 bond on charges of larceny after trust.

Vick Young, manager of the Merchants' Protective Association, worked upon clues that led to the arrest of Caldwell, who is alleged to have taken $5,000 worth of merchandise over a period of four months. After this arrest three others were taken into custody and charges of receiving stolen goods were docketed against them.

They were given hearings Thursday and bonds set at $500 for J. V. Martin, of 970 Sells avenue; $200 for E. B. Martin, of 1801 Evans drive, and $200 for Roy Martin, of 300 Richardson street. It is understood that there was another arrest but that the defendant's hearing was postponed because of the death of a near relative.

Of the $5,000 worth of merchandise lost, Mr. Young stated Thursday night that approximately $3,300 had been recovered.

Winifred Westover Returns in 'Lummox'

The year's most discussed screen personality, Winifred Westover, who plays the title role in "Lummox," all talking United Artists picture starting Monday at Keith's Georgia, in connection with a bill of Radio-Keith-Thompson vaudeville, had been in retirement nearly eight years when Herbert Brenon, producer-director of the feature, selected her for the part.

Miss Westover, former wife of William S. Hart, quit pictures at the height of her career eight years ago and continued in private life until Brenon decided to film Fannie Hurst's favorite novel. Then she competed with more than 100 Hollywood and New York stars, who sought to immortalize "Lummox" on the talking screen, and finally convinced Brenon that she was "destined by fate" to play the part.

She ate fattening foods over a period of six weeks to attain the clumsy figure demanded by the characterization.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE IS JAYCEES' TOPIC

An address by Dr. Julian Pennington on "Vocational Guidance" featured the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber of Commerce building Thursday afternoon. William J. Davis, Jr., presided at the meeting and entertainment was furnished by Miss Ruth Haynor, who sang two "blues" songs, and Miss Evelyn Kidd who did several specialty dance numbers.

EMORY BOYS TO GET 'The Vagabond King' Premiere Tonight

Emory students are to be granted spring holidays extension on Wednesday afternoon, March 19, until Monday, March 24, it was announced by officials of the institution Thursday, but the plan of fraternities to hold house parties at chapter houses during the week-end following the examination for the winter quarter was denied by the university council.

This will be the first time in the history of the institution that spring holidays have been granted to Emory students, though it was formerly the custom to grant one day's freedom from classes during little commencement. Efforts of the fraternities this year to bring about the reinstatement of their social functions formerly held at little commencement were without avail, even after the Greek letter men offered to sign a non-drinking pledge.

In connection with announcement of the holidays it was stated that final examination for the winter quarter will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, March 17, 18 and 19, in order to give the latter part of the week to the holiday period.

DeKalb Plans War On Reckless Driving

Recommendation that at least two officers be added to the county police force and that they be equipped with motorcycles to check reckless driving on the open road was made in presentations to Judge John B. Hutcheson, of the Stone Mountain circuit by the DeKalb county grand jury Thursday which adjourned subject to call.

In the presentations was incorporated a resolution stating that the grand jury had found a marked improvement in the liquor situation in DeKalb county and that the county was practically free from drunkenness. The jury also suggested that an organization of grand jurors be formed to discuss affairs for the betterment of DeKalb county. Judge Hutcheson and Solicitor-General Claude C. Smith as well as all county officials were present for the efficiency and diligence. About 25 indictments were returned.

He was standing near his father's car while the latter was repairing the gas line, and a lighted match is believed to have caused the explosion. He was burned about the head and face.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER SOUGHT IN ATLANTA

R. C. Baker, chief of police at West Palm Beach, Florida, requested Atlanta police Thursday night by wire to look out for and hold Otto H. Roberts, wanted there in connection with the embezzlement of $20,000. The wire stated further that a reward of $1,000 was offered by an insurance company for his arrest.

He was described as being 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, having light complexion, discolored teeth, dark hair sprinkled with grey, and a slight foreign accent.

Barbers Strike.

GREENVILLE, S. C., March 6.—(P)—About 75 barbers in union shops of Greenville went on strike this morning, demanding a higher commission. They asked a 75 per cent commission instead of the 65 per cent to play the part.

'Yankee' Near Close Of Erlanger Week

"A Connecticut Yankee," that smart musical version of the thrilling Mark Twain story, will have its last three performances at the Erlanger theater tonight, tomorrow matinee and night.

All the glittering pageants and pomp of King Arthur's court are produced in the sumptuous costumes and rich settings of "A Connecticut Yankee." The story begins with a stag party to the Yankees, who is about to be married. A well-aimed blow from a wine bottle in the hands of an angered bride-to-be, sends the Yankee sailing down the years to the sixteenth century, just before a well-remembered eclipse of the sun.

Transported to Camelot, captured by Arthur and doomed to the stake and flames, the Yankee begs the sun to go black, and black it goes, giving the Yankee high standing in Camelot. Once settled there, he turns the place into a twentieth century Sank Center, with a telephone, jazz and other present-day contrivances.

Richard Lane and Mary Adams are the outstanding characters of the comedy and they give a wonderful evening of songs, dancing and jokes. Seats for all remaining performances may be had at the Erlanger box office and at Phillips & Crew Piano Co.

Seats Going Fast For 'Let Us Be Gay'

With a splendid advance sale at the box office, and with Producer Harry McKee expressing himself as delighted with the progress made at rehearsals by the company, the premiere of the new Erlanger theater players, next Monday night, already promises to be an event of note in local theatrical affairs.

"Let Us Be Gay," the comedy drama chosen for the first week of the new resident production company, is still running in New York and Chicago after many months of success. It is said to be one of the cleverest and most dramatic of years. In Chicago Francine Larrimore is having one of the greatest triumphs of her career in the leading role.

Seats for the new productions at the Erlanger have been priced at a top figure of 75 cents for night performances, with matinees three after-

Dundee, Goodrich Fight Here March 18; Lumpkin Kayoes Morris

DOBBS TO FINE LATE CRACKER ARRIVALS

TED GOODRICH, DUNDEE SIGNED; LUMPKIN WINS

Father Kayoes Morris in Third Round of Bout Here.

Ted Goodrich, Atlanta welterweight, has elected to make his bid for national recognition in an Atlanta ring March 18.

L. C. Warren, Goodrich's manager, announced yesterday that contracts has just been closed with Matchmaker Max Ahlson for a 10-round bout here with Joe Dundee, ex-welterweight champion.

DUNDEE SIGNS

Ahlson also received in the afternoon mail a contract for Dundee's appearance here. It was signed by Jimmy Johnston, the Boy Bandit of Broadway, manager of Dundee. Johnston also is manager of Phil Scott, the Wildest Rose of England.

Goodrich is an Atlanta product who has fought his way through the ranks of minor welterweights from this section and on the recent card that Jack Dempsey referred for the American Legion knocked out Farmer Joe Cooper with one punch.

"I feel that Goodrich is ready for big-time fighting," L. C. Warren said yesterday, "and I jumped at the chance to get him a match here with Joe Dundee. If he can beat Dundee and I am positive he can, he will be ready to challenge Jackie Fields, the champion."

CANCELS BOUT

Goodrich and his manager canceled two or three minor engagements in the south yesterday when the Ahlson offer was closed. Ted will go into more serious training in the country near Atlanta to prepare for the biggest bout in his career.

Dundee lost the welterweight championship July 25, 1929, to Jackie Fields on a foul and received a purse of $20,000 for his appearance. Since then he has fought steadily and is aching for another shot at Fields.

The show is the biggest yet attempted by Matchmaker Ahlson in way of a welterweight bout. Dundee held out for a $2,000 guarantee. The match was closed in Miami through the friendly efforts of Lew Diamond, a close friend of Johnston.

Father Wins In 39 Seconds.

By Herb Clark.

Charging out of his corner throwing a most potent brand of leather, Father Lumpkin, ex-Georgia Tech grid star, knocked out Hollis Morris, former Bulldog, after 39 seconds of their scheduled eight-round bout at the Auditorium Thursday night. Morris was unable to leave the ring for five minutes after the fight had officially closed.

Lumpkin and Morris met in what was billed as the "smoking" bout on Hanlon's card at the Auditorium last night. To most of the 1,800 people present it was the feature, their reason for venturing into the arena which made home the most comfortable spot for the night.

Both lads came out sparring. Lumpkin led once with his left and then whipped a right cross to Morris' jaw. Morris went down for a count of four. He was still a trifle groggy as he rose and Lumpkin shot a powerful left out again to the same target with the same result. The count this time was nine.

It was that left again, the same fall, and the same count as Morris started up for the third time. He responded to the "nine" which brings the fighter to his feet and tried hard to get up. It was no use. His knees buckled and he was again on his face. Referee Ray Davis raised "Father's" hand in victory.

"There's nothing to say about that. It was too short," said Lumpkin in his dressing room. "I hated to hit him the last time, but there was nothing else to do."

Father's time in the ring is now 2 minutes and 56 seconds. Less than one round.

In the "feature" fight of the evening, Jack Tunney, of Birmingham, knocked out Pug Avery, of Atlanta, in the third round of a scheduled ten-rounder.

Tunney put Avery down for a count of two before the bell rang to halt the first round. Avery was down four times in the second round, three times for a count of nine and once for a count of three.

Tunney sent Avery to the floor four more times in the third session. A three-second rest, another for seven, a third for nine, and the final ten was the total.

KNOCKOUT. Joe Keith, of Atlanta, won over Harry Jones, of Atlanta, by a knock-out in the final frame of their six-round bout. The battle was even all the way, with both lads close to knockouts on several occasions. Keith himself was nearly out as his hand went up.

Leo Uthrick, while conceding a ring-side edge in his six-rounder with Charlie Pittman, could get no better than a draw in the decision. Both boys are from Atlanta.

In the opening bout Casey Jones won from Bob Wilson by a technical knockout in the final frame of another six-rounder. The fight was stopped by the referee.

Women Shatter Three Swim Marks

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 6. (AP)—Three world's records for women swimmers were broken here tonight. Liza Lindstrom, of New York, set a new mark on the 300-yard free style; Joseph McKim, of Los Angeles, set a new record in the 250-yard free style; and Helene Madison, 16-year-old Seattle sensation, clipped more than five seconds from the existing world mark in the 200-meter distance.

Wayward Boye Boswelled By Ed Sanford

Marian Comes Homes--Announces 'Ready'--Elopement Mystery Deepens

EDITOR'S NOTE—This elopement story is rapidly getting beyond control. While the world was waiting for the sunrise and the Sunday Constitution to find out which of six suitors' hands in marriage Marian had decided to accept, the fickle femme ran off with Wayward Boye. She left a note saying she was going with him to Chattanooga to be married. Yet Wayward and Marian never appeared in Chattanooga for a marriage license. They completely vanished. So did the six suitors. And Marian must accept one of the boys by Sunday, or something. It gets worse every day.

Marian Ruit, the Girl of a Thousand Lines, any one of which is guaranteed to kill at a thousand yards, came home yesterday. She had been reported as eloping to Chattanooga with Wayward Boye.

While seventy-five newspaper reporters and photographers surrounded the city hall and repelled a determined attack by three "reds," Marian slipped into the city unnoticed.

The tip came to this column from Les Carbon, filling station manager, who said a girl answering Marian's description was seen passing in a bus from Chattanooga.

A few minutes later one of our intrepid reporters bored with waiting for the communists to riot wandered into the office and was sent to verify the report. And about supper time on the Ruit front porch he learned what he learned from the beautiful girl herself.

THE SIREN

"Well, here I am again," said Marian airily as she came out of the house in response to her mother's call. "You never know what I am going to do next, do you? I guess I lead you dear paper boys a merry chase, as you would put it."

"It was a shame to trick you with that note about the elopement but I just could not resist the chance. I just wanted to get away from all the suspense of waiting until Sunday when the election results are to be announced."

"You just don't know what a pain it is for a girl to sit around and wait to have her engagement announced for her."

"I love all those dear boys and it just nearly kills me to have to disappoint five of them, but I just couldn't make up my mind and I was so worried that I just wanted to get away from it all for a day or two."

WAYWARD'S ROLE. "Wayward, that is Mr. Boye, came by to see me and he said he had read all about me in the papers and how six men were simply wild about me and that one of them had even advanced me $2,000 to get an education with and that he just wanted to meet a girl who could do all that."

"And so we talked and Wayward—that is Mr. Boye—suggested that I write a letter saying I had eloped and just go away for a few days. Mr. Boye seemed to understand me and he knew just what a tension I had been under for days and days ever since these pictures of my proposals had been coming out in The Constitution."

"So we—or rather I—went to Chattanooga and I spent the night at my cousin's and then caught the bus for home and here I am."

"Did you and I should say, were you married to Wayward Boye?" the reporter asked as soon as he could interrupt.

"Why no of course not," Marian also shouted.

And she suddenly bit her lip and without another word went into the house. She was about to cry.

MAMMA TALKS

"Marian just needs a good cry and a night's sleep and she will be ready to marry the man the people choose," explained Mrs. Ruit.

"She is so upset about all this publicity and she had no idea anybody would take her elopement seriously. Of course with six suitors like Jim, the farmer, Jerry, the doctor, Gregory, the banker, Harry, the rich man's son, Dick, the aviator, and Tom, the football player, she never could think of marrying this Wayward Boye, whom they tell me is a snuff drummer originally from Pulaski, Tenn."

The whereabouts of Wayward Boye remain a mystery.

Likewise the six suitors. One of them will be sentenced by a jury of his peers to marry Marian Ruit.

Wayward was last seen boarding the Dixie Flyer for Chattanooga, in company with Marian. Did he get off the train on the other side? It has been done.

POLO ENTRIES $100,000 Offer.

NEW YORK, March 6. (UN)—Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Pennsylvania Military college and West Point are entered in the intercollegiate indoor polo championships here beginning March 22, the officials announced today.

Efforts to interest Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit Tigers, and John McGraw, Giants manager, also failed.

Judge W. G. Bramham, president of the league, is ill at his home in Durham, N. C., and was unable to make a statement today. He is expected to return here just as soon as possible and see if anything can be done.

Announcement was made from Greenville, S. C., today that Joe Schepper, who managed the champion Smokey team last season, had signed to pilot the Spinners during the 1930 campaign. He was given his unconditional release several days ago when it became uncertain if Knoxville would remain in the league.

Knoxville Faces Loss Of Sally Franchise

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 6. (AP)—Unless something totally unexpected happens within the next few days, Knoxville's franchise in the South Atlantic league is hopelessly lost. Colonel Frank Moffett, well-known Knoxville baseball man, who was offered the club for $5,000 by Thomas Watkins, the owner, has given up all hope of getting it financed.

Efforts to interest Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit Tigers, and John McGraw, Giants manager, also failed.

JACKETS LEAVE TODAY FOR MEET AT CHAPEL HILL

Twelve-Man Track Squad Enters Indoor Games Saturday.

By Herb Clark.

Twelve of the best of the young huskies at Georgia Tech who take their exercise clad scantily in track uniforms, are slated to leave Atlanta at 7:30 this evening.

The jackets are headed for Chapel Hill, N. C., where the first annual Southern conference indoor track meet is to be held Saturday afternoon under the sponsorship of the University of North Carolina.

Coach Bob Fetzner, North Carolina track mentor, whose own little brain chills the meet, is, as received what he terms a "most satisfactory response" to his invitations to compete.

"TIN CAN"

The noted—or notorious—"Tin Can" at Chapel Hill will be packed with track men. Ten conference schools have filed entries for complete teams. Freshmen from a number of schools will be on hand. Prep and high school athletes will swell the total to above the 300 mark.

And those present will be the cream of the south's thinly clad youngsters. Two world's champions—Ed Hamm and Harry Flippin, the University of Virginia's star hurdler who has shattered three marks in the past two seasons—will head the list of the celebrities.

The "Tin Can," a mammoth metal "barn," is well suited to the class of the field. A 60-yard straight-away will make for near-record times in the sprints, and most of the quality of the field is concentrated in the shorter events.

HAMM IN POOR SHAPE

Ed Hamm, ace of the Jacket squad, who is in poor shape after pulling a tendon in practice early in the season and later being mixed up in an auto crash, reported Thursday afternoon that he "didn't think he would be able to do much."

"My legs are in fair shape," said Hamm, "but my left arm is still sore from being cut by the car. I can't get much action out of it. Not enough to make me believe that I'll do much good. I'll be too much hampered in the dashes, but I still have a chance in the broad jump."

The rest of the squad is ready to go, in the opinion of Coach Hal Barron, who is in the first round of play today and tonight, and eight teams looked forward to the second-round match tomorrow in the annual state high school basketball tournament here.

Jack Harvey and Hamm will be the Jacket entries in the 60-yard low hurdles. Hamm may be scratched at the post, but Harvey's word to date has been high enough to liberate how Barron to figure a few points for the Engineers in that race. Harvey will also essay the sticks in the 60-yard high hurdle event.

DISTANCE MEN

Hal Asbury and Al Cristfield, both members of last fall's cross-country team, will enter the long races at the Tarheel camp. Both have been named for the half mile, while Cristfield will try the mile alone.

Hamm and Asbury have been nominated as the Jacket mile relay team, with the final quartet to be selected at the meet on the basis of their work in practice.

Hugh Stubbs, bright freshman sprint prospect at the Flats, will head the list of the yearling invaders. He has been turning in good times for the century and 60-yard dashes in practice and is expected to be in the money at Chapel Hill in the latter event. Williams and Shields, two more likely lads, are also to run the 60-yard dash. Shields will take the mark in the 60-yard high hurdles as well.

Peare, Gegenheimer, Clarke and Shields have been named for the three-quarter mile run for freshmen.

Coach Barron will enter a freshman mile relay team at the meet with all of his yearlings qualified to run. He will select the team on the grounds. Fetzner will accompany the team to the Tarheel camp.

OFFICIALS. Coach W. A. Alexander and Frank Kopf, both registered officials with the A. A. U., will be in Chapel Hill to supervise the meet.

Fetzner has arranged a pretentious program for the games. An even dozen events are on the cards for the varsity tracksters from Southern conference colleges. The caliber of the entry list, including as it does most of the outstanding speedsters of the southern section, is expected to make the slate one of real interest.

College freshmen will be present in some numbers for the four events on the card for them. High and prep school athletes will swell the entry lists. Seven races have been put on the program for them.

Fetzner plans to make the affair an annual feature in the south. He has tried the idea once or twice before but has never been given enough co-operation to make the running worth while. This year, however, he brought the matter up at the coaches' meeting in New Orleans and received the support and approval of the executive body.

City Prep Stars Enter Big Meet.

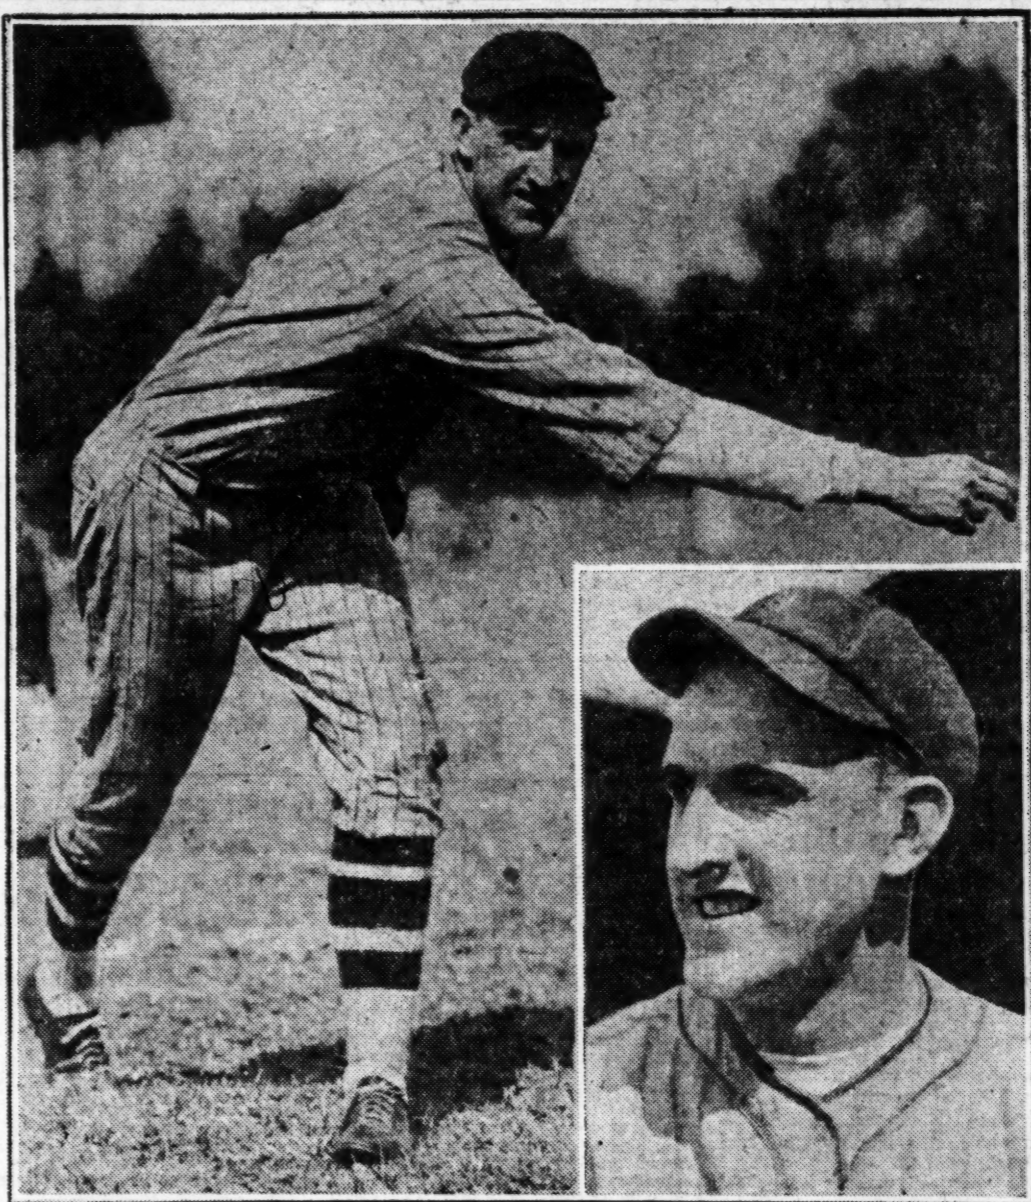

Seven Atlanta prep track athletes will compete in the indoor track meet at Chapel Hill, N. C., Saturday night, it was learned Thursday.

Four Tech High and three G. M. A. stars have been working daily for the past two weeks, training for the big indoor meet.

Captain Bryce Bullington, Paul King, Pinky Moore and Cobb are the Tech High trackmen who will make the trip. Bill DeGarmore, Proctor and Hornsby will represent G. M. A.

Bullington and Moore will represent Tech High and DeGarmore will represent G. M. A. in the 60-yard dash. King, Proctor and Hornsby have been entered in the 1,000-yard run and Bullington is entered in the low hurdles.

DECATUR WINS IN STATE MEET

DeKalb County Five Fights Off Stilson's Challenge, 30-20.

By Ralph McGill.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.

ATHENS, Ga., March 6. (AP)—Four of the 12 teams entered fell by the wayside in the first round of play today and tonight, and eight teams looked forward to the second-round match tomorrow in the annual state high school basketball tournament here.

Brasleton, Hartwell, Decatur and Perry survived the first round of play. LaGrange, Valdosta, Albany and Vienna drew byes on the opening day.

The first game tomorrow will be played at 3:30 between LaGrange and Decatur. At 4:30 Perry and Valdosta take the court. Albany and Hartwell will clash in the first night game at 8 o'clock and Brasleton and Vienna meet in the final go at 9 p. m.

The Decatur-Stilson score was denuded 14-all at the end of the first half and Stilson kept to within 3 points of the DeKalb county entrants until late in the third period. Maynard and Stilson kept to within 1 and 2 points, respectively, were Decatur's stars. Lee, guard, stood out for the losers.

THE LINEUP. DECATUR (20) Post. STILSON (20) Anderson (12) Post. Richardson (7) Forward. Frasier (7) Forward. Johnston (8) Center. Glisson (6) Center. Comer (6) Forward. Bell (1) Referee. George Keane (Georgia) umpire. O'Sullivan (Rely Cross).

Brasleton, by its 51-10 victory over Stapleton tonight and Perry's decisive 44-10 defeat of Rome, established these teams as favorites for the final Saturday night.

Brasleton, representing the ninth district, was not extended in defeating Stapleton. Rice, Thrasher and Boggs, Brasleton's sharpshooters, divided scoring honors, with 11, 13 and 14, respectively.

Hartwell took a commanding lead at the start and was never headed, although Thomaston almost closed the gap before the final whistle. Individual playing honors went to Treadway, Thomaston forward, who scored 14 of his team's points.

Williams and Hall In Tennis Final

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 6. (UN)—Richard Norris Williams, II, and Gilbert H. Hall, Jr., met in the final round in the Florida tennis singles championship tournament here today. Williams defeated Emmett Pare 4-6, 6-1, 7-5 and Hall defeated Craig Biddle 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Stickney Calls At Ball Park

Old-timers in baseball circles here were glad to learn Thursday that Silver Bill Stickney, road secretary of the Crackers last year, had put in an appearance at the offices looking fine and fit. Stickney, who is advancing in years, was seriously ill for quite a while this winter but seems to have fully recovered.

Johnny Dobbs Pleased With Speed of Club

"We'll Have a Fast Club This Year," Pilot Says; It's Typical Dobbs Team.

By Ralph McGill.

Constitution Staff Correspondent.

DOUGLAS, Ga., March 6.—There was just a flicker of satisfaction on John Dobbs' sphinx-like face this afternoon as he watched some of the boys running around the bases in the second batting practice of the season.

The Cracker commander was watching especially the flying heels of Frank Walker, Jimmy Johnston, Elton Langford and Eddie Brown.

The boys were picking them up and laying them down very smartly indeed. There was no hint of age in the agile legs of any of the trio though all of them were classed as veterans.

That flicker of satisfaction remained for a time, long enough indeed for Johnny Dobbs to unburden himself of his thoughts which had been productive of satisfaction.

"It looks like we are going to have a good fast club," he said. "Just look at Frank Walker run. Monroe Mitchell, the Douglas boy who used to pitch for me at Memphis and who was in the Sally league with Walker last year, wants to bet me a $10 that that Walker can outrun any man in the league. He looks fast here and he isn't in shape yet."

TYPICAL DOBBS CLUB. This ball club ought to make a lot of runs for Dobbs this year. In fact it looks now as if there is enough material on the list from which to make a typical Dobbs club, one that will hit and score a lot of runs because they are fast.

"We should have a good fast outfield," commented Dobbs. He intends to use Walker, who for the past three or four years has been playing and managing the Greenville club in the South Atlantic league, in the outfield. He has Eddie Brown, the tall end man from Toledo, and Elton Langford, the piece of Texas TNT in the infield, and there isn't a man Jack of them who cannot really move.

Yes, sir, his three circuit riders of the outfield ranges look very good indeed. Especially are the fans going to like Eddie Brown. He has the legs, has old high pockets and he has the power. So have the others for that matter. It looks like a Dobbs outfit.

JIMMY HUSTLES. Jimmy Johnston, who has been at the business for quite a span and who is still a good ball player, was hustling as fast as any of them. Dobbs insists that there isn't a man in the league right now who can steal a base as well as Jimmy Johnston. "I would rather," says Johnny Dobbs, "have Jimmy Johnston on base in a pinch than any other man I ever saw in baseball."

Which is praise indeed, coming from a manager who has watched hundreds of good ones come and go.

Milt Stock, who will be here for work Friday, has a booster in Chief Roos, the secretary who was formerly president and secretary at Mobile when Stock was there as manager.

"I don't believe there will be a man in the league who can beat Stock down to first base unless it is this new man Walker," said Roos. "And I don't believe there will be an infielder in the league who is any faster than he is."

Listening to all this, John Dobbs joined in by saying that Jack Sheehan was not a slow ball player.

EDICT IS WIRED TO MILT STOCK, BADER, GRIFFIN

Bull Rauch, Brennan Report at Douglas—Three Holdouts Listed.

By Ben Cothran.

Down in Douglas, Ga., Mr. Jonathan Dobbs, who manages the Crackers, has become extremely weary of the recalcitrant tendencies of some of his ball players. He has, accordingly, asked Business Manager Spiller to advise three gentlemen of the diamond that they can't fool around with J. G. Dobbs and not get it in the neck.

The Crackers possess three holdouts and five other players who have not shown their faces in Douglas, Ga., where the team is training. Thursday night, the request of Johnny Dobbs, Spiller wired Leo Bader, Ivy Griffin and Milton Stock to either "report for work by Monday morning or bring twenty-five dollars when you do report." The money will be confiscated by the club as a fine.

RIGHT. "It seems," said Spiller Thursday night, "that under the law a ball club has just as much right to inflict a penalty on a player who does not report on time as a player has to stay at home and yell for more money when he should be at camp getting himself in condition to play. We need those players and want them at once. We will be playing exhibition games in a short time now, and the players must be in condition."

Ivy Griffin is a suspected holdout. He has steadfastly refused to come to terms. Wednesday Mr. Spiller made a proposition that he expected, with Dobbs' tacit approval, to bring him hustling over from Mobile, where he is spending the winter. The other two to whom wires were sent are not holdouts. They just haven't said anything about reporting and Mr. Dobbs is not a person to dally with.

The other two holdouts are Johnny Jones, shortstopper, and Francis Patrick Haley, a utility infielder. Those outside of Stock and Bader who haven't reported but are not listed as holdouts are Jim Brice, Arch Yelle, and Cliff Knox.

REPORT. Bull Rauch, a young right-hander of promise, who tried hard last summer but just couldn't get along, rambled into Douglas in time for one of those famous warm-up games Thursday night. Bull Rauch lives in New Orleans. New Orleans is the place where they have Mardi Gras, and if you think you can get away from the city during the carnival, then you should try it some time. Tuesday, however, marked the end of the carnival and Bull immediately set out for Douglas. He is an Orleansian and probably has not recovered. They have a gay time during the carnival in New Orleans. Milt Stock is expected to report.

Don Brennan, a right-handed pitcher from last year's club, got into camp a few hours after Rauch. He came all the way from Augusta, Maine. He did not get away from the season last year because he fell on the right field dump in Nashville while chasing a pop fly and hurt his shoulder.

Advice from Douglas Thursday was that the effect that Arch Yelle and Cliff Knox, a couple of catches on their way, accompanied by Doctor Silva. Yelle was second-string catcher with the Crackers last summer. He was injured when Knox was farmed out to Spartanburg. Silva roamed in the Cracker outfield for a spell in 1929.

LEAVING. Jim Brice sent word to the home office Thursday afternoon that he was leaving his home, which is either in Pennsylvania or Massachusetts, according to Mr. Spiller, for Douglas. By a special train he will be in the management, Ernie Koob is not checking in until March 12.

About the holdouts. Johnny Jones, who sells stoves during the winter, evidently had a big year, because he has demanded more money. His demand has been denied and he has absolutely refused to sign. Whether that will dissuade the man Dobbs no one knows. Pat Haley fools around in the squawkie studios out in Hollywood every winter, going about the duties of an electrician. He refused his contract and has asked the Crackers to sell him. He may continue to follow the electrical profession during the summer. Ivy Griffin, purchased by Atlanta from Columbus, in the American association, is wintering in Mobile.

Whether or not Mr. Dobbs needs these recalcitrants, he wants them to beseech themselves and get to camp and get in condition. He is funny. Mr. Dobbs is, about getting his players to camp. It is noted that Mr. Dobbs' clubs are always in good condition.

The board of directors will descend on the fold at Douglas Saturday for a day of poking around and looking the club over. The A. B. & C. railroad has come along with a private conveyance which the party will board here tonight at 9:45 o'clock, reaching Douglas Saturday morning at 6:45.

Accompanied by four or five invited guests the bigwigs of the Crackers will watch the team work out.

Grass Is Green On Spiller Field

There was one man in Atlanta who was glad to see Thursday's rain. R. J. Spiller, business manager of the Crackers, needed it. They have replanted Spiller field and there were only two rains in February. Grass needs rain to grow. Spiller reported that they will have a fine stand of grass this year and that the park will look better than ever. All the benches are being repainted and other improvements are being made.

Beats Champion.

NEW YORK, March 6. (AP)—Frank P. Frazier, youthful court tennis sensation from Boston, eliminated the defending titleholder, Hewitt Morgan, of New York, in the semi-final round of the championship tournament today by scores of 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

The final for the championship tomorrow will be an international affair with Frazier opposing Lord Aberdare. The English star triumphed over William C. Wright, of Philadelphia, to the tune of 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

Pirates Loom as Trouble Makers in National League Race

ENS CONFIDENT OF HIGH PLACE IN COMING RACE

Team Is Young With Plenty of Good Hitters and Pitchers.

By Russell J. Newland.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., March 6.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's Pirates, winners of two National league pennants in the last five years and always one of the toughest teams of the senior circuit, give early spring training promise of having a lot to do with disposition of the 1936 championship.

The spring practice has been under way in full force only two days but Manager Jewell Ens has seen enough to convince him he will pilot a club that should be up there with any kind of break.

A great squad—fast—strong fellows—hard hitting outfit—good pitching. This is the way Ens sums up the situation.

"Pennants aren't won in training camps but you can tell anyone who cares to listen that the Pirates are going to give a good account of themselves this season," he declared. "The general structure of the team that lost out to the Cubs in the closing weeks of last year's pennant chase remains the same but two corners have been reinforced. Gussie Suhr, husky home run hitter from the San Francisco Seals, replaces Earl Sheely at first base, while Al Bohl, a workhorse catcher, has been purchased from the Baltimore Internationals."

With Suhr at first, George Grantham at second and Captain "Pie" Traynor at third, the Pirates have a trio whose poorest hitting efforts should be better than 300.

The shortstop problem is unsolved as Dick Bartell, regular last year, is a holdout. Sam Dreyfus, vice president, and Manager Ens apparently haven't lost much sleep over Bartell's absence. Instead they have worked themselves up to a high point of enthusiasm over a rookie, Ben Sankey, who played with Selma, Ala., in the Southeastern league last season. Dreyfus says Sankey is a "sweet pickup" and only needs coaching.

OUTFIELD OKAY.

The outfield is nothing to worry about. The Waner brothers, Paul and Lloyd, training camp holdouts last season, were among the first on the ground this year. Paul, league leading batter in 1927, is determined to gather in that honor again.

Adam Comorosky will patrol left field with Ira Flaxstead, Fred Brickell and Jimmy Moffatt on hand for utility duties. For Frasier, outfielder formerly with Oakland of the Coast league, was signed yesterday and will be given a chance to show his wares.

Whether Burleigh Grimes, the club's best pitcher, will be in uniform is a subject of much discussion at present. Grimes wants a two-year contract and has informed friends here he will not report unless he gets one. Sam Dreyfus says the club will not give anybody a two-year contract. Manager Ens, however, believes his star twirler will come to terms and is counting on him to win at least twenty games.

Jess Petty, the big left-hander, looks better than ever. While Ray Kremer's bad knee has returned to normal, Ervin Brame, lefty right-hander, who tops the six-foot mark by two inches, will be the fourth of the regular starters.

The relief pitching squad likely will line up as follows: Larry French, southpaw; and Steve Swetonic, Glenn Spencer, Larry Meine and "Lil" Stoner, right-handers. Two youngsters, Leon Chagnon, right-winger, and Ralph Erickson, southpaw, are being closely watched.

CATCHERS BATTLE.

A battle for the first string catching position is on between Bohl, the big newcomer, and Charles Hargrave and Ralston Emsley, last year's regulars. The "underground telegraph" has it the hard-walloping Bohl will get first call.

Ens, who relieved Donie Bush as manager six weeks before last season closed, has decided to groom John O'Connell as an understudy for Suhr.

If spirit alone would clinch the flag, all the Pirate management would have to do now is order a flagpole. Max Carey, one of the great outfielders of Pittsburgh history and now a coach, says in all his career he has never seen a club with the zip of this one.

More Seasoning.

Victor Orsatti, younger brother of Ernest, the outfielder, is with the Cardinals this spring and will be farmed.

SHIKAT MADE MAT POPULAR

New Star Causes Abandonment of "Butting" Tactics in Wrestling.

Dick Shikat, who will wrestle Paul Jones in Atlanta next week, is the man who has brought wrestling back into popularity.

The "butting" wrestler has about disappeared. The ease with which Shikat disposed of all that tribe has discouraged them. The only one now going along with it is Gus Sonnenberg, whose title has been vacated by New York and Pennsylvania's athletic commissions.

Shikat's chase after Sonnenberg has been one of the most amusing things in years. Gus Sonnenberg never gets in the same state with Shikat if he can help it. Gus is barred in the big wrestling centers because his butting is not wrestling and because he will not meet Shikat, the man who has been declared champion by the New York and Pennsylvania commissions.

Shikat wrestles. He does not depend on a specialized hold. Nor does he butt his foe about the ring. Veteran wrestlers are glad that Shikat has come to dominate the field. For a time the game lost favor as the men tried to use anything but wrestling to win their matches. Now that wrestling has become wrestling again, the fans are flocking back to the game.

Promoter Henry Weber, who is putting on the champion here next Wednesday night, has insisted on the men he brings here giving the fans straight wrestling.

Weber's semi-windup, bringing together LaDucey, Canadian champion, and Charley Fox, the original hard-boiled egg, is a great match. The entire card is good and a sell-out crowd is expected. Tickets are on sale at the Candler shop fountain and at the Piedmont Hatters.

Baseball School Pupils Are Signed

Two students of the Elberfeld-Walton baseball school were signed to professional contracts Thursday.

Chester Whitely, former Tech High pitcher, was signed by Johnny Brock, one-time Cracker catcher and manager of Vicksburg in the Cotton States league.

Lefty King, a pitcher who was with Fulton High, has been signed by the Carrollton club, of the Georgia State league.

Rain Thursday curtailed the sessions at the school, which is being held at Almand park. A large number of new pupils is expected Monday to augment the 56 boys already on hand.

Complete satisfaction with aspirants for every other post has been expressed by Steele and he has announced that a first-sacker will be added to the club roster before the circuit curtain goes up on April 15, provided the class of player he wants is available when the major and double A clubs start cutting down their squads.

Steele says he has two men in mind and as both belong to the same club he feels one can be obtained.

STRONG HULERS.

Pitching kept the Peebles from sinking to the bottom of the list last year and this department probably will be the strongest this summer.

Four hurlers who made last year's list of 18, so that he will not have to include but four rookies on his club.

Lefty Weisman, who was with the Lookouts in 1928, is working valiantly in an effort to make the pitching staff.

He will be a Class B man, Jimmy Johnston says that Weisman has a lot of confidence.

A GAME HULDER.

"I remember once," said Jimmy, "he was pitching and was very wild. He walked three men and had three and nothing on the next hitter. The next day he was back and he walked him to go ahead and let them hit. And do you know what that boy said?" asked Jimmy. "Why he said, 'Shucks, I've seen sick, kittens than this get well; let's go.'"

Dobbs likes his left handers, Oldham and Dumoville. The big Pole arrived last night and worked out this afternoon. He was pretty tired after a long ride from Los Angeles. Coming into the clubhouse on the night train the travelers have to get up at some undignified hour in the morning and go into the day coaches. Douglas being off the line a bit from Atlanta.

ONLY PROBLEM.

If Weisman looks good he will be carried along. Dobbs is not adverse to three southpaws on the club if they can pitch. Who would be? Ernie Koob, the fourth southpaw, hasn't reported. He has been wired to come along to camp. Joe Kiefer, Don Brennan and Jim Brice, the latter a native New York Yankee, are counted on heavily as right handed workers in the rifle pits this summer.

WALTER MAJOR STAR.

John Johnson told me two years ago that he thought Don Brennan would be a major league star within a few years.

Johnson said that he had one of the best fast balls he ever saw in a young pitcher; also a good curve ball. He wanted to let me have him but I wasn't taking any players on option last year and Atlanta took him. He needs this climate down here and I am anxious for him to hurry on.

"I think he should have a good year."

The Crackers have no players at camp on option last year and Atlanta took him. He needs this climate down here and I am anxious for him to hurry on.

"I believe in giving all the boys a fair chance," he said, "and it will probably be the middle of next week before I make a cut in the squad."

There are no deals on at present except the one for a catcher which has been pending for the past few weeks. Dobbs said that he had heard nothing definite regarding the deal for the catcher nor the San Antonio deal for Haley.

Tech Ball Team Will Lose Mizell

Warner Mizell, a veteran of three years' standing and counted a vital cog in the 1930 Georgia Tech baseball club, reported "lost" Thursday.

The stellar first sacker, who was being considered for an outfield berth this season by Coach Clay, is to graduate in June and told Clay that the pressure of his studies was too heavy to allow him to work with the squad.

The loss leaves "Heavy End" Freeman and Fred Holt as leading candidates for the first base post, with the big crew of sophomores to be used in filling the outer gardens.

TRAVELERS NEED FIRST SACKER

Manager Steele Satisfied With Rest of Layout.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 6.—(AP)—Manager Jack Steele believes all that is needed to place the 1936 edition of the Little Rock Travelers among the strong contenders for the Southern association pennant is a capable first-sacker.

Complete satisfaction with aspirants for every other post has been expressed by Steele and he has announced that a first-sacker will be added to the club roster before the circuit curtain goes up on April 15, provided the class of player he wants is available when the major and double A clubs start cutting down their squads.

SMITHIE-B. H. S. SPRING GAME PLANS DROPPED

Boys' High Winds Up To-day in Battle With Alumni.

By Roy White.

Boys' High will end its spring football practice Friday afternoon with a game between the graduates, members of the 1929 team and candidates for the 1930 team, Coach Doyle stated yesterday. The game will be played at Henry Grady field or at Piedmont park.

Plans for the spring game between Boys' High and Tech High have been abandoned. The game was slated to be played during the middle of March, but due to lack of interest in the game the plans were dropped. The Boys' High-G. M. A. game, which the Cadets won several weeks ago, was proof enough that prep spring games would not be a success.

Coach Doyle sent his Purple Hurricane through a long, hard scrimmage Wednesday afternoon, while the "veterans" worked together on another section of the field. The team worked well and there was plenty of co-operation between the backfield and line. The backs ran the ends with apparent ease and the line charged hard and opened up good holes.

Tech High has practiced much less than Boys' High and the Smithies have not progressed like the Hurricane. Assistant Coach Tom Alexander will continue practice at Tech High for another week, after which he will help coach baseball.

With a return of Captain Morris Katz, Botwell, Brewer, Smith and Statton, all basketball players, the Boys' High team has improved greatly since the game with G. M. A.

Baseball Work Starts Monday.

Baseball is scheduled to start in each of the prep camps next Monday afternoon. University School has been working for two weeks, while some of the other candidates for the various teams have been working for several weeks.

Marist, under the direction of Coach Joe Bean, started work several days ago and the team is about ready to start infield practice and base running.

Shorty Doyle, who has been coaching spring football at Boys' High, will start work with the baseball candidates Monday afternoon.

Claude Tolbert, coach of the Tech High team, has been coaching the past few afternoons playing golf on the Piedmont park course in a vacation from coaching duties. He ended basketball with the game last Thursday night in Macon when Tech High was eliminated in the quarter finals of the G. I. A. A. He worked several afternoons since with the football candidates but has not taken an active interest in the spring work. He will take over baseball practice Monday afternoon.

THE NEXT CHAMPION.

It so happens that a heavyweight champion is far from being the most important citizen upon this earth. In the general scheme of things he isn't particularly important. But he has a certain place, and the idea is that whatever this place is he should earn it.

From the way things are going, we may not have a heavyweight champion for years—at least not one who has earned his place and who will be generally recognized as such.

There certainly was no forward step taken in the recent Sharkey-Scott turmoil. Scott made no effort to fight, which should have disqualified him, and Sharkey struck at least one or two low blows, which could easily have disqualified him. The net result proved nothing. It never came even close toward making a champion. It was no contest. If the same thing had happened in a baseball game, football game or any other sport, practically all concerned would have been hooted off the reservation. Sharkey is still potentially a good heavyweight. At his best he is a first-class heavyweight. But he hasn't proved it yet. He certainly had no chance to prove anything in the Miami flop, which apparently was much worse than the Sharkey-Stribling flop of a year ago.

About the only thing the recent Miami flop proved was that the public is not quite as vulnerable to punishment as it was a year ago.

Scott should never have been picked as any semi-final opponent in a heavyweight championship. He was not even among the first ten. How many would have backed Scott at even money against Sharkey, Schmeling, Dempsey, Griffith, Paulino, Von Porat, Carnera, Risko, Stribling or several others? He has never had the slightest flash of fighting spirit, and spirit still happens to count, no matter what the game. He eliminated himself more than once, but for some queer reason the elimination never seemed to stick.

STILL UNPROVED.

It will take at least one high-class slashing battle to prove any one has earned his place as heavyweight champion. It can hardly be settled by default, on a foul or through a flop.

As suggested before, the Miami meeting settled nothing except that one man wouldn't fight and the other won partly through a low punch. No one questions the fact that Sharkey is far above Scott's class. So are many others. But beating Scott as he happened to beat him hardly advances Sharkey's claim. If he can whip Schmeling in a decisive fashion there may be another story to tell. From the way Schmeling has been handled, or mishandled, this may not be as difficult a job as it would have been if the German had stuck to his trade and had slipped two or three rough and tumble scrimmages into his system since he met Paulino last summer. Schmeling won't be as good as he could have been, but he won't be a Scott, at least.

In the meanwhile some younger fighter, such as Tuffy Griffith, may slip along and be ready to turn in his share of trouble. The Miami mix-up would have been a real fight if Tuffy had been named in place of Scott. That was one of the reasons why Sharkey balked at a Griffith match. He figured to beat the westerner, but no set-up party, and it would have taken his best, possibly, over the full route.

It is still the belief of this column that when a feature bout is decided on a foul the spectators should have their money back, or at least foul checks, where the two principals must either fight again or go unpaid. The fight fan has stood more punishment than any other animal yet created, but there must be a limit. Or is there? He has taken a trimming that no fighter in the ring today could stand for five rounds, much less year after year.

It has become fairly apparent that no such champion is coming along as Dempsey was around 1918, or as Tunney was around 1925. So the idea is—why not wait until a champion can prove he is a champion, without being in any hurry to name some one just to fill a gap? It is remarkable how well the world has rolled along in spite of the gap.

It was a bit of news to Campolo that he had Risko so far outclassed that the New York boxing commission wouldn't let them meet in New York. For about a week he has been figuring that possibly some one made a slight mistake.

Park Street Girls Sink Grant Park

Park Street girls defeated Grant Park, 24 to 32, and St. Paul won from Epworth, 33 to 22 in the semi-finals of the Epworth Athletic Association tournament played Thursday night at Wesley, and hence advance into the finals to be played next week.

The feature of the evening was the game played between Park Street and Grant Park, two evenly matched outfits. Park Street, at the very outset, jumped into a nine point lead, which was held until the last of the first half, when the losers pulled up five points. At the beginning of the last period, Grant Park made two rapid field goals to tie the count and then it was nip and tuck until the end of the mixup. A foul called in the last few seconds of play was converted into a marker by Miss Herzberg, for Park Street, and the game was over, a win for the latter. Miss Herzberg was the individual star, making 22 points. Miss Human was the losers' best.

Starring Miss Baker, St. Paul went into the lead of their game with Epworth, the latter latter being closer than four points at any time. Misses Cudlipp and Howle were good for the Saints. Misses Mayo and Kendrick were the losers' shining lights.

Wood Does 95 Miles In Unofficial Try

MIAMI, Fla., March 6.—(Special).—Gar Wood, speedboat king of America, believed today that he had attained a speed of 95 miles an hour with his Miss America VIII, giant water racer, on the waters of Biscayne bay in trials preliminary to his record attempt during the Miami Beach regatta March 25 and 26. The trial was not officially timed.

Wood has ambitions toward a 100-mile-an-hour mark as a world's record for speedboats for Miss America VIII. The vessel was brought here recently in preparation for the record attempt.

The speedboat king said today that lines of the craft have been changed radically since its Harmsworthy trophy in Detroit last year, the improvements being scheduled to cut down skin friction.

"The change was surprisingly effective at higher speeds," he said today.

Senator Presses $7,000,000 Appropriation for Early Passage—Is in First Deficiency Bill.

BY FRANCIS W. CLARKE.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(Special.)—As a result of the activity of Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, a sub-committee of the senate appropriations committee today agreed to incorporate in the pending deficiency bill an appropriation of $7,000,000 to carry out the provisions of the bill recently passed by both branches of congress, which authorized a loan fund for use of farmers and fruit growers in Georgia and 14 other states in financing spring crop operations.

By securing this action from the sub-committee of which he is a member Senator Harris advanced the time of availability of the loan at least two weeks, which, since plowing has already started in many southern states, will add greatly to the value of the legislation to the farmers. The deficiency bill is always the first appropriation bill to be passed, being disposed of at least two weeks before special appropriation measures. The deficiency bill has already passed the house.

Make Application Early. Following the action of the sub-committee Senator Harris urged farmers of Georgia to go ahead now with the preparation of their application for loans under the fund in anticipation of final adoption of the deficiency measure at an early date. Administration of the fund in the southeastern area will be in charge of L. B. White, making his headquarters at Columbia, S. C., where the federal farm loan bank is located and the Georgia senator advised those eligible for loans to file their applications with Mr. White immediately.

While action on all of the applications will necessarily be deferred until the appropriation is finally approved, Senator Harris pointed out that it will expedite matters to have such applications on hand by that time. The fund will be available to farmers and fruit growers as loans for the purchase of feed, seed and fertilizer, corresponding in amount and scope to the $6,000,000 fund set up last year to provide temporary relief for those whose crops were injured by flood conditions.

Experts Report Friday. The necessity for action by the appropriations committee is explained by rules of the house and senate requiring the passage of two separate bills by congress on the appropriation of all federal funds. The first bill, or the one already signed by the president, is simply an authorization measure while the second measure actually appropriates the funds in keeping with the authorization.

Senator Harris said that he expected the deficiency bill to be reported to the senate by Friday perhaps, with no delay expected in its adoption. After this it must go back to the house for agreement on any changes ordered by the senate then sent to the White House for the president's signature. In presenting the matter to the appropriations sub-committee today, the Georgia senator emphasized the importance for immediate action if the farmers of the southeast are to receive any material measure of aid through its provisions. He pointed out that spring crop operations will soon be in full swing, but many farmers will find themselves unable to finance seed and fertilizer purchases unless loans are soon forthcoming. Impressed with the representations made by Senator Harris, the committee voted unanimously to incorporate the items in the bill, thus giving the assurance that the fund will be contained in the first appropriations measure to be passed by congress since the authorization was adopted.

Gun Play Threatened In Fruit Fly Work

ORLANDO, Fla., March 6.—(P)—Wholesale charges that Mediterranean fruit fly eradication forces caused widespread damage to citrus trees and fruit last summer through use of arsenical spray were placed before a congressional subcommittee today by a group of growers with threats of "gun play" if the spray again is made compulsory.

Nine growers, some of them aged self-styled "Florida Crackers," born and reared in the citrus industry of this state, bitterly condemned use of the spray as more damaging than any pest known to man. Blame for the property loss, alleged to have been incurred, was laid directly on the shoulders of the state plant board.

One of the witnesses was Mrs. Lula A. Arnold, of Conway, an aged widow whose spirited testimony was commended by the committee members. She and her middle-aged son, Thomas Arnold, kept the committee in an uproar as they told in plain farmer language of the "outrages" they claimed to have been subjected to at the hands of the eradication forces, and the threats they made to "kill a hole" through the plant board workers "if they ever come back to our place again."

Apart from the serious side of the grievances they held against the state plant board, the humor they created by simple but forceful words was the first that has been injected into the committee hearings since the inquiry began last week.

Edison Again Offers Training to Georgian

Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, has received a letter from Thomas A. Edison renewing the inventor's offer of a year ago of technical training to a deserving young man. Under the plan followed last year one boy will be chosen to represent each state at competitive examinations at the Edison laboratories, East Orange, N. J.

Dr. Duggan's plan for picking the Georgia representative has not yet been mapped out. It is understood that it will be similar to that of last year.

MINNEAPOLIS 'LEGER' MURDERED IN AUTO

MINNEAPOLIS, March 6.—(P)—Max Golden, bootlegger and former restaurant owner, was shot and killed last night by an unidentified assailant who hid in the rear of Golden's automobile. Golden, entering his automobile in front of a hospital where he had visited his wife, a patient there, received a fatal charge of slugs from a sawed-off shotgun. The slayer jumped from the car and escaped. Police are conducting their search for the slayer on the theory that Golden had recently been acting as an informer for federal prohibition agents.

MRS. BOOTH TO FACE LAWRENCEVILLE COURT

Alleged Kidnap To Answer False Swearing Charge First.

Mrs. M. L. Booth, alias Krebs, who is to face the Fulton superior court on March 19 on two indictments that charge her with kidnaping Atlanta girls, will be tried in Piedmont circuit superior court at Lawrenceville on next Tuesday following her indictment by the Gwinnett county grand jury there on a charge of false swearing. Mrs. Booth will be released to the Gwinnett court for trial Tuesday, Mr. Pratt was assured Thursday by Assistant Solicitor-General Ed A.

Stephens, of Fulton county. Mrs. Booth is being held in Fulton tower pending trial. The false swearing charge is said to have grown out of Mrs. Booth's alleged part in the marriage of Billy Shannon and Miss Martha Robinson, daughter of Mrs. Mary Robinson, in Lawrenceville. Mrs. Booth is charged in Fulton superior court with kidnaping Miss Robinson and Miss Besie Louise Russell, who were members of the cast of Mrs. Booth's show. The trial in Lawrenceville will not interfere with Mrs. Booth's trial here on March 19, it was said. Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, Thursday afternoon signed an order to allow Mrs. Booth to be taken to Lawrenceville for trial.

SIXTH WARD LEAGUE MEETING POSTPONED

The Sixth Ward Civic League meeting, scheduled for tonight at the Williams Street school, has been postponed on account of the illness of Dr. Horace Grant, president, it was announced Thursday. Dr. Grant is said to be recovering and expects to be out within a few days.

REVISED CITY VOTING LAWS ARE SOUGHT

Ordinance Prepared To Bar Possibility of Election Corruption.

Revision of election laws governing the borough of Atlanta in order to eliminate possibility of corruption will be sought in a proposed ordinance which will be submitted to a special council committee authorized to make investigations at a special meeting to be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, it was announced Thursday. Councilman Joseph E. Berman, chairman, is now preparing details of the measure, the main feature of which will be establishment of the office of city registrar and provision for a permanent registration list. Other details of the measure were not completed Thursday, but Councilman Berman said he would have the paper completed by Saturday, and had called a session of the committee for Monday afternoon at the city hall. City Clerk Walter C. Taylor is now also charged with the responsibility of keeping the registration list. Another probable feature of the election law which Mr. Berman is preparing will be laws to prevent "rotters from repeating, that is casting more than one ballot in any one election."

$20,000 Suit Filed Against Ben Davis

Suit for $20,000 damages for bullet wounds alleged to have been inflicted by Charlie Robinson, bodyguard for Ben Davis, former negro republican national committeeman for Georgia, was filed against Davis Thursday in city court of Atlanta by Roger Long, 40, a laborer. The plaintiff charges that on Tuesday he was shot by Robinson while on his way to work, and that Robinson was employed by Davis as a watchman for Davis' home. Long alleges that he had no weapons on him and was not guilty of any wrong-doing. The petition was filed by Breen, Finch and Padgett, attorneys.

"I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at Change of Life. Now I take it every spring and fall and it keeps me in good health. I am able to take care of an eight-room house and garden at the age of 71 years. I will praise the Vegetable Compound wherever I go for it is a wonderful medicine for women. They should give it a good trial by taking about five bottles."—Mrs. Clara Riley.

MRS. BERTHA STEPHENS

"I was very nervous and rundown and weighed less than one hundred pounds. I felt tired and weak and I often had to lie down. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I read the advertisement in the paper. Now I eat well, sleep well, and have good color. In fact, I couldn't feel any better and I weigh one hundred fifty-five pounds. I am glad to answer letters from any woman who wants to know more about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Bertha Stephens.

Children Cry for it

Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups. Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

by E. Phillips Oppenheim

INSTALLMENT 35.

The next day I passed my treasure into the trembling hands of Martin Hews. He set it down in front of him upon the desk and drew aside the purple covering with caressing fingers. He was like a man whose emotions, so clearly reflected in his face, had generated an almost unendurable physical strain. He sat spell-bound, gazing, drinking in an amazing happiness, completely oblivious to his surroundings, crooning gently to himself. His fingers wandered lovingly over that exquisite surface. The seconds passed into minutes. Finally, with the tips of his fingers still resting upon his treasure, he turned towards me.

"Well done, Owston," he exclaimed. "Well done!" When the news came through of the raid, I trembled. You have brought me the last great desire of my life. Now tell me the story."

"It's a pretty serious one, I fear, sir," I warned him.

"The beginning of it was all right. Isaac wanted to bargain, but I handed across the cheque. Tul-Kak parted all right, poor fellow. He saved my life, but they got him this morning. He was found dead in bed, as I dare say you read."

My employer nodded. "Joseph kept his word as usual. He swore that, if he dealt with me instead of him, he should die before he could cash the cheque."

"He had three men to guard him and locked doors. No good! Joseph's men got at him somehow during the raid. They could never believe that I had fought through to the office, and they imagined that I had hidden in one of the rooms on Tul-Kak's floor. Everyone of them was ransacked last night and torn to pieces."

"They pressed you hard for it?" he muttered, with a sparkle in his eyes.

"We had a bit of a scrap in the corridor of the Milan," I told him. "Afterwards, rather foolishly, I went off with the coffee, which they took from him at the corner of the street, and I reached the office vault, with the statuette in my trousers pocket. Isaac is all right, by the way. I rang him up this morning. They just took the coffee from him and let him go."

"You are a man, Major," my employer acknowledged tremulously. "I did well when I engaged you. Now what about the raid? The papers speak of you as making an heroic resistance, and a Mr. Ruben Sams. Who is Ruben Sams?"

"Joseph," I answered. "You're laughing, but again I did my best to combat it. I explained the reasons for my conviction. They all believe that he was fighting for the guests," I concluded. "Nothing of the sort. He was leading on his gang. He'd marked down every table where the jewels were worth having, and under pretence of rushing there to defend the women, he led his men."

"That's a strange story, Major," Martin Hews commented quietly. "Strange, but it's true," I answered. "You say that he spoke of my niece?"

"I asked him where she was. He refused."

"I think, Major," said my employer, "you have run foul of a man with a sense of humor, and he amuses himself at your expense."

"Perhaps," I sighed. "It always seemed to me that it would be the easiest thing in the world, if I could once find the man from whom I knew to be Joseph, to drag the truth out of him, but I can't do it. He's so clever. He is always surrounded by other people who are either his confederates, or who believe in him, and he always seems to be in a position to make me ridiculous, if I accuse him seriously. I thought Inspector Bloor was my friend—I think he is—but he doesn't trust me. I begged him to arrest Joseph last night, and he wouldn't do it."

"That fellow Bloor again!" he muttered. "I wish you'd keep away from him. The police are too suspicious of me. This house is watched from the front door to the river. Isaac could have got me some of the real lacquer, taken from the Weindorf palace in Vienna. I dared not take it. There's no harm in your being friendly with Bloor, but be very careful, Major. Never let him talk to you of my affairs."

He pressed a button, and Minchin presently appeared.

"A bottle of wine," he ordered. "Two glasses. I get tired these days," he went on, speaking as though to himself.

"Why don't you chuck it all now, sir?" I asked him. "It has been a great game, but it is worth it, after a certain point?"

"It is always worth it," he replied fervently, "when the treasure is there."

"But look at what you have already," I argued. "You have beautiful things enough to feast your eyes upon for the rest of your life. Why run any risks? Why not ship everything to some southern country—Italy, or somewhere among the quieter spots of the French Riviera. Divide your time between the sunshine and your treasures."

"He leaned across the table. "I shouldn't be able well, sir," I expostulated, "but the man isn't superhuman. He's beginning to get it in the neck and to get it badly. There are 53 men of his gang under arrest, some in hospitals, the remainder in prison. Eleven are dead. His organization must be completely shattered. The police have combed every house for miles around their old headquarters. Don't you think one of these 53 is likely to squeal?"

"I don't believe one of them knows,"

my employer confided. "They catch a glimpse of Joseph, who comes stealing down into their midst once or twice a year, from some hidden place in another quarter of the world, perhaps, but I don't believe there's one of them—even among his most trusted lieutenants—who could put his hand upon him at a given moment. Joseph knows all about them and what they are doing. They know nothing about him."

"How about last night?" I demanded. "They recognized him then and obeyed him."

Martin Hews smiled cryptically. "If your theory as to Ruben Sams and Joseph being the same man is correct," he said, "I can quite understand his being willing to disclose himself. Presently I will explain why."

There was a tinkle of the bell, and Minchin brought in a bottle and two exquisite Venetian glasses.

"This is Berncastler. Doctor, 40 years old," my employer told me, holding his glass reverently to the light. "Wines of this character have their beauty, almost like the visible objects of art."

The wine was the color of pale amber, but richer and softer, more delicately perfumed than any wine I had ever drunk before. As he poured out his second glass, Martin Hews' cheeks and eyes grew brighter again.

"Owston," he said, "you were right. I said that I should finish with the Buddha, and I shall keep my word. This is my one great success," he went on, caressing the statuette. "There is nothing in the world more beautiful than this. No single object of gold or porphyry, of silver, or bronze, or jade, or ivory, to compare with it. Stop! Your messenger's fee!"

He opened a drawer and drew out a bundle of notes.

"You needn't mind taking them, Owston," he went on, almost pleasantly. "There was never a thousand pounds better earned. Put it in your pocket."

I am afraid I did not stop to consider the ethical point of view. After all, I had done my job and risked my life. I pocketed the money.

"You may hear from Joseph, even though it is for the last time, as soon as he discovers that he hasn't the Buddha," I warned him.

"It has cost me something like 5,000 pounds," Martin Hews said, "to make this room impregnable. It is impregnable. No man could possibly enter while I sit at this desk."

"But there are two other doors," I pointed out.

He nodded gravely. "Quite right. Now then, about those two other doors. There is only one that need count. The door into my treasure house, the first step on the stairs from this side and it would take half a ton of dynamite to blow it up. As for the second—"

He must have touched a button somewhere, for the door rolled slowly open. Upon the threshold stood Huntley, his automatic in his hand. "Quite all right, thank you," his master said, with a nod. "I was only testing the connections."

The man stepped back and the door closed.

"Supposing," Martin Hews went on, "that my man had been overpowered from outside the first step across the threshold by anyone who did not know where to set his foot would land him somewhere very near eternity. I think I am safe here, Major. I am not relying upon man, or man's fidelity. I have made this a mechanical fortress operated by myself. Science, at any rate, cannot play me false."

"Then, if I may, I will go back to town, sir," I proposed.

"Just as you please," Martin Hews assented. "Send me news when you have any, Major. Mr. Ruben Sams, for instance. Ah, I have not shown you this. Look here. When you get back, you may find Mr. Bloor not so hard to convince."

He had a copy of the Times open before him and touched a little paragraph with his finger:

"Mr. Ruben Sams, the Argentine millionaire, is arriving at Liverpool this morning on the Orinoco from Buenos Aires, and will be staying at the Ritz hotel."

"Come a little before his time, I fancy," Martin Hews remarked. "That is why I think that Joseph's star is setting."

Toward 6 o'clock Inspector Bloor came to see me.

This image shows a vertical strip of a document page. On the left side, there is a dark, textured binding or edge. The main part of the strip is a lighter, off-white or light gray color with a slightly grainy texture. There are some faint, dark vertical lines and small specks scattered across the surface, possibly due to the scanning process or the age of the paper. The overall appearance is that of a close-up of a book's edge or a narrow section of a printed page.

THE SON OF TARZAN No. 89

Copyright, 1929, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

All that night, as Korak lay despairing because he knew the elephant could not unloose the knots that bound him, Meriem and Baynes were north along the river. The young Englishman had been sorely wounded by one of the Arabs' shots and the two were therefore doubly anxious now to reach Bwana's home. The day was still young when they came suddenly upon a party hurrying southward. It was Bwana himself and his sleek black warriors, searching for Meriem.

At sight of Baynes the big man's brow contracted in a scowl; but he waited to hear the girl's story before giving vent to the anger long pent in his breast. But when she had finished he seemed to have forgotten Baynes. His thoughts were on another subject. "You say that you saw Korak?" he asked. "Yes," replied Meriem, "as plainly as I see you!" Still doubting, Bwana repeated his question to Baynes, asking him to describe the ape-man.

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"His about my age," said Baynes, "remarkably muscled and exceedingly tanned. His hair and eyes, what color were they?" It was Meriem who answered him. "Korak's hair is black and his eyes are grey—like yours," she said. Bwana turned to his head man. "Take Miss Meriem and Mr. Baynes home," he said. "I am going into the jungle. Let me go with you, Bwana," pleaded Meriem. "You are going to search for Korak—I know it. Bwana turned sadly but firmly to her.
